

Some GOP Members Complain Redistricting Is Not Pleasing All

By ROBERT T. GRAY
ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) —Gov. Rockefeller had approval today for his $100-million program to spur construction of fallout shelters in schools. But a Republican plan for congressional redistricting encountered rough going.

The Legislature took up reapportionment today as the final business of a special session that opened yesterday.

Several Republican assemblymen complained that the plan, while designed to help the party on a statewide basis, could have adverse political effects in their home areas.

GOP leaders were meeting with recalcitrant members, however, and expressed confidence the plan would pass.

Other Developments

In developments at the session yesterday:

1. The Senate voted 44-13 and the Assembly 93-51 to approve the governor's shelter plan, under which the state would pay up to half the cost of shelters constructed by public-school districts and private schools and colleges.

2. Both houses approved unanimously the governor's plan to give a total of $1.4 million in income-tax relief to the 200,000 New York residents on active military duty, increase from 100 to 500 the number of new state scholarships awarded annually to children of disabled and deceased veterans.

Rockefeller signs that bill today.

Sent to Committees

3. Republicans refused to discuss the politically explosive issue of rent control. Democrats introduced bills to make it more difficult for New York City landlords to obtain rent increases but they were sent to committees.

Republicans plan no action on rent control until the regular session beginning in January.

A proposed new Upstate congressional district 180 miles long was criticized by several Republican assemblymen in a closed-door party conference.

The district would comprise the counties of Montgomery, Otsego, Chenango, Cortland, Cayuga, Seneca, Yates and Ontario, all of which have GOP assemblymen.

Hard to Campaign

Some of those assemblymen complained that the district would be too difficult for congressional candidates to campaign in and Republicans on the extreme ends have no community of interest.

The overall reapportionment plan was designed to take seven seats from Democrats and give Republicans a gain of five.

Air Force Sends Instructor Back To Teach Russian

SCHENECTADY, N.Y. (AP) —Airman Joseph R. Turk had his discharge from the Air Force today and was ready to return to his job as a Russian-language teacher in an Indiana high school.

The Air Force authorized Turk's release Thursday in a telephone call from Washington to authorities at his base in Scotia, near Schenectady.

President Kennedy had told newsmen Wednesday he had not been informed of a request from Turk's pupils that the airman be discharged.

Turk returned to Scotia from Griffiss Air Force Base at Rome, N.Y., where he was discharged, an Air Force spokesman said. Turk could not be reached at Scotia.

Pupils Made Appeal

Turk's pupils appealed to Kennedy for his release on the grounds they needed a Russian-language teacher more than the Air Force needed a clerk-typist, the job to which he was assigned with the 133rd Air Transport Wing.

The White House told reporters, after Kennedy's statement at the news conference in Washington, that the Air Force had sent notice on Monday that Turk could be released immediately.

Turk, 26, reported for active duty Oct. 30.

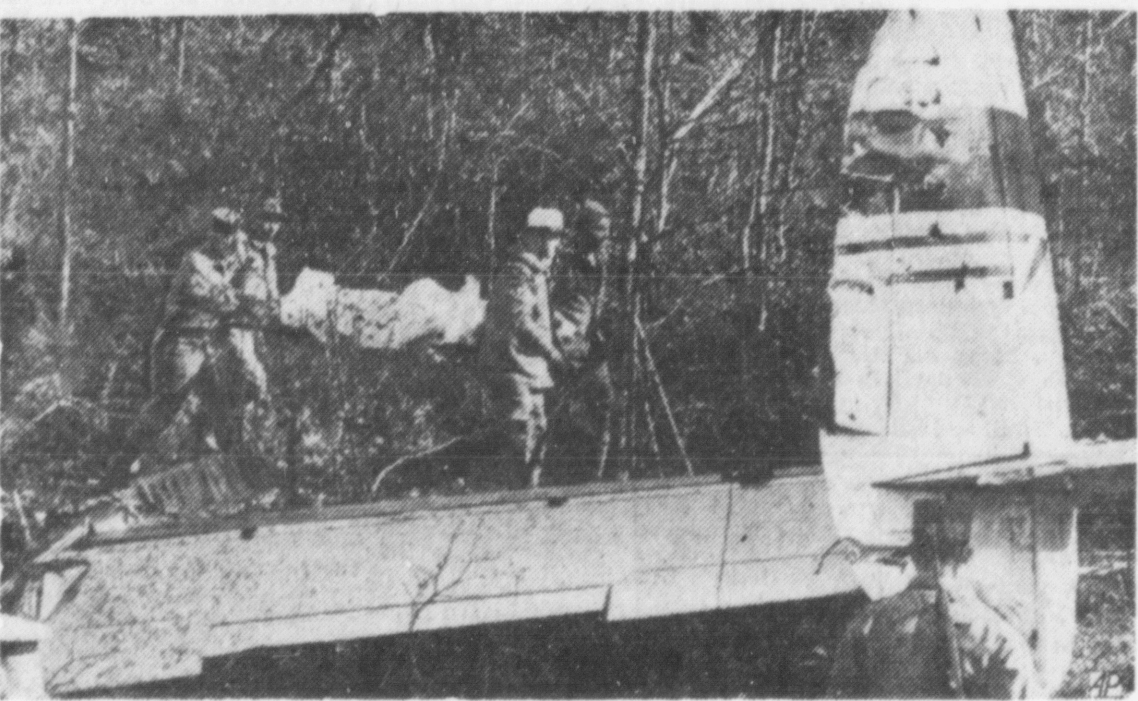

Willing to Serve

He told reporters last week his application for deferment had been denied before he reported. But, he said, he was "more than willing to do my tour of duty."

Officials at the Columbus, Ind., High School said his job was still open if he wanted to return.

One of Turk's pupils, 14-year-old sophomore Karen Taylor, who organized the appeal to Kennedy, said:

"We missed him very much, and everyone is glad he's going to get back."

Will Name Trustees Of College in Dec.

Trustees for the Ulster County Community College will be named at the December meeting of the Ulster County Board of Supervisors.

Following the overwhelming vote at the general election Tuesday in favor of establishing a Community College in Ulster County, the Community College Committee of the board last night recommended "this board should make the appointment without undue delay," and recommended that the appointment of trustees be placed on the agenda for the December meeting.

In its report the committee noted that approval by the voters "together with the prior action by this board and the State University of New York establishes the Community College."

Sign Report

The report was signed by Supervisors Alexander Banyo (R), Abram Molyneux (R), John J. Gaffney (D), and Roger Mabie (D). Chairman Roy Webber of Marletown was absent from the meeting.

The establishment of a Community College in Ulster County was placed before the voters of the county on election day by Local Question No. A. This question was "shall the County of Ulster sponsor a Community College, pursuant to the plan formulated by the board of supervisors, at an estimated initial capital cost to the county of $650,000, and an estimated annual cost of maintenance and operation to the county of $213,799?"

Overwhelming Vote

That question was approved by an overwhelming vote. The Community College will be administered by a board of trustees of nine members, who are appointed for terms of nine years in annual rotation. However, the first appointments will be for terms of one to nine years, respectively.

Five of the nine members are appointed by the board of supervisors. The initial appointments by the board shall be for terms of one, three, five, seven and nine years, respectively. One of those appointed may be a member of the board of supervisors.

The remaining four trustees are appointed from among persons residing in Ulster County.

Committee Report

In presenting its report Thursday evening the Community College Committee in part said:

"Although your committee does not believe that this board should act on the appointments at tonight's meeting because of the lack of notice that such appointments are in order, it does believe that this board should make the appointments without undue delay, and therefore, recommends that the question of appointments to the board of trustees by this board be placed upon the agenda for the next time this board convenes at the next regular monthly meeting. This committee also recommends that the Budget Committee make adequate provision in the 1962 budget for the functioning of the Ulster County Community College."

A meeting of the Community College Committee of the board was held immediately after the session adjourned.

Establishment of a Community College in Ulster County, following its approval by the voters on Election Day, will mean that an immediate contribution of $100,000 made by Macdonald DeWitt through the DeWitt Revolving Fund, Inc., will be received toward the capital cost of the college. This will be met by State moneys in an equal amount.

DeWitt, a very prominent New York City lawyer and a native of Ulster County, offered to give at least $100,000 toward the college from a $200,000 revolving fund (Continued on Page 2, Col. 4)

Thought It Was Rabbit

In the second hunting mishap, Joseph McMillan, 49, of 183 Munroe Street, Brooklyn and Carson Leak, 50, of 282 Putnam Avenue, Brooklyn, were rabbit hunting in Walkkill Thursday afternoon in heavy brush.

Investigator Joseph Frank of the Highland State Police Barracks said Leak fired at what he thought was a rabbit and nine of the 12 gauge shotgun pellets struck McMillan. Three hit him in the left chest, five in the right hand and one in the right upper arm. He was given treatment at St. Luke's Hospital in Newburgh and discharged.

Shoots as He Falls

According to investigator E. D. Donahue of Rhinebeck barracks, the Frisching brothers were hunting in the Snyderville area, about 50 feet apart when Hugo wounded a rabbit. He ran towards it, the officer said, when he suddenly slipped and fell. His shotgun discharged and the blast caught Christian in the side of the head.

Two of the pellets tore into his eye and into the brain, investigator Donahue said. The accident occurred Wednesday afternoon.

Will Check Gaffney's Election 29 Paper Ballots Recount Saturday

Re-election of Supervisor John J. Gaffney (D), Town of Lloyd, by five votes is being questioned by his Republican opponent, Eugene K. Noe.

There will be an inspection of the military and absentee ballots, 29 in number, Saturday morning at 10 a. m. under a stipulation between counsel for Gaffney and Noe. The inspection will be held in the city of Kingston.

Thursday afternoon Noe, through his attorney Stuart T. Schantz with John E. Egan of counsel, secured a show cause order from Supreme Court Justice Louis G. Bruhn in which he sought to have an inspection of the ballots. The order was returnable before Justice Bruhn at 10 o'clock today.

Recount Due Saturday

At that time George A. Beck, counsel for Supervisor Gaffney, agreed to the inspection and the matter was postponed until 10 a. m. Saturday.

Noe asked in his petition that the inspectors of election in the four election districts of Lloyd reconvene and recanvass and "correct" the statement of canvass. The petition also sought to enjoin the Board of Supervisors from making the official canvass the vote for supervisor in Lloyd until the returns have been "corrected."

X15 Rocket Aims for Altitude Record Speed Set At 4,070 Miles PH

EDWARDS AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP)—The X15 rocket ship, forerunner of the space ship that will take man to the moon in this decade, has achieved one of its twin goals—record speed. Now it will be aimed at record altitude.

Air Force Major Bob White opened it up all the way in level flight Thursday and set a new speed mark of 4,070 miles per hour—six times the speed of sound, twice as fast as a rifle bullet.

To Try for 250,000 Feet

Next week another pilot, Joe Walker of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration will point the X15 skyward and try for a new altitude record of 250,000 feet.

Four thousand miles an hour and 250,000 feet—this is what the stubby-winged black Sky Dart was designed to achieve.

It already has reached 217,000 feet, last October, 11 with White in the cramped cockpit.

That day, as Thursday, swift temperature changes of more than 1,000 degrees in less than three minutes splintered the outer panel of his windshield.

Cracked by Heat

"I expect the metal frame holding the windshield will be modified before the altitude attempt," White said after his flight.

The right side of his windshield was so badly cracked by the heat, that White could not see out of it. "Good Lord," he bemoaned, "I hope this one holds."

Then he radioed to the chase pilot, on his right side: "Stay right there, buddy."

The chase pilot, Air Force Major Walter Daniel, did exactly that, keeping his F104 just above the X15 and radioing instructions to White all the way down.

He's for Local School Control With Federal Aid

By G. K. HODENFIELD

AP Education Writer

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP)—Federal control of education in the United States would lead directly to the destruction of the freedom and integrity of the individual, Sterling M. McMurrin, U.S. commissioner of education, said today.

But, he added, "the federal government must step in, where absolutely necessary, to provide the human and natural resources needed in the achievement of our national goals."

Monkey Is Killed As Atlas Blows Up

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) —A tiny monkey named Goliath died in the flaming explosion of an Atlas missile high over the Cape today.

Officials reported 20 minutes after the launching there was no chance that the small passenger had withstood the great explosion. His space capsule, tucked in the Atlas nose cone, had no escape mechanism.

5,000-Mile Hop

The huge rocket, with the 1½-pound squirrel monkey in its nose, roared skyward at 9:55 a.m. EST on an intended 5,000-mile flight to the South Atlantic Ocean. It appeared to be flying a true course when suddenly it veered nose downward and erupted into a boiling ball of fire that spread several hundred feet across the sky.

The explosion occurred at an altitude of several thousand feet about 35 seconds after liftoff. Flaming pieces of the shattered rocket plummeted into the Atlantic Ocean just offshore. Seconds later the roar of the explosion rolled across the Cape and nearby beaches.

The Air Force reported the range safety officer destroyed the missile when it became erratic in flight. Technicians began studying tapes of radio information relayed from the missile in an effort to learn what went wrong.

Most Powerful Rocket

The missile was an advanced Atlas E model, this nation's most powerful military rocket. The earlier, more reliable Atlas D series will be used in the U.S. man-in-space program. A D Atlas is scheduled to boost a chimpanzee into orbit from the Cape next week and a man on an orbital flight hopefully by the end of the year.

If successful, the Atlas today would have covered the 5,000 (Continued on Page 2, Col. 3)

Polis Under Guard
Polling places, because of the closeness of the race for mayor, were placed under police guard after closing time Tuesday night, and the vote was rechecked in every district Wednesday to verify mayoral totals. The vote for other offices was not similarly checked at the time.

Democrats running for county offices led in the city vote, and as Kaye was re-elected by a safe majority, City Judge Aaron E. Klein, along with Mayor Radel, lost. Democrats also voted in eight aldermen and supervisors.

The check for Monday's canvass was made today by City Clerk Raymond A. McAndrew and Deputy City Clerk Walter S. Foster.

Will Check . . . of Canvassers, as respondents.

Noe, a resident of Vineyard Avenue, Highland, in his petition states that the returns gave Petitioner Noe 1261 votes and Gaffney 1266 votes.

There were two military ballots cast for Gaffney and three for Noe. Gaffney was credited with nine absentee votes and Petitioner Noe 15.

The voting machine totals gave Gaffney 1255 votes and Noe 1243. Petitioner alleges no canvass was made of the Military or Absentee ballots. There is no allegation of any error in the votes cast upon the voting machines but petitioner questions the canvass of the military and absentee ballots.

Allegations of Petitioner
Petitioner alleges that the Board of Elections delivered two military ballots to Vincent Gaffney, town clerk, to be delivered to the First Election District. Those ballots were from John J. Slema and Robert D. Casper. Election results show three military ballots were cast in that district, petitioner alleges.

One military ballot was delivered by the Board of Elections to the town clerk for the Second District, that of Frank F. Reilly. No military ballot was cast in that district, petitioner alleges.

Two military ballots were sent out for the Third District, those of Gerald P. Wilkow, and Frank A. Slater. The canvass showed only one ballot was cast.

Petitioner alleged five absentee ballots were sent out by the Election Board for delivery to the Second District. Only four were cast. The ballots were those of Dominick DeDivo, Mary Ann Sandy, Madeline R. Moore, Caramel Carpenter and Pearl Voris.

Nine absentee ballots were sent out for the Third District. Only seven were counted. The voters were Philip J. LaSarsam Jr., Charlotte E. Gaffney, Dianne H. Wadlin, Fred Decker, Eugene Noe, (father of petitioner), John Joseph Mandy, Rowanna J. Harcourt, Neil E. Miller, Edith Evins.

Six absentee ballots were sent out in the Fourth District. The canvass shows, according to petitioner, that eight absentee ballots were counted.

Claims Review Warranted
Petitioner alleges that the vote cast by machine gave Gaffney a plurality of 12 votes, but that was reduced by the absentee ballots to five.

Discrepancies indicated in the count of the military and absentee ballots from that of the number sent out by the Board of Elections, warrants a review, petitioner alleges.

Town Clerk Vincent Gaffney is a cousin of Supervisor John J. Gaffney and resides in Highland.

Others Elected
The Republicans elected Philip Schunk as justice of peace 1,499 to 991 over Nat Gadaletto, Democrat. Matthew Bush, Republican was returned winner for the council seat by a vote of 1,271-1,201 over Frank Canora.

Other Lloyd results: Town Clerk, Vincent J. Gaffney, Democrat, 1,086; Marie Dibi, Republican 494; Superintendent of Highways, Peter Anella, Democrat, 1,481; Frank Valentino, Republican, 1,021; Assessor four years, H. D. Weezenaar, Democrat, 1,487; James Houston, Republican 923; Assessor two years, Thomas Shay R. 2,389, (unopposed) and endorsed by both parties).

A letter commending the Ulster County Highway Department was received from Frank A. Hamilton, business manager of the New Paltz Central School, in which he referred to prompt action in making repairs to a school sign which had been damaged when a highway truck ran over it.

In preparation for the annual session the Board was given notice the Rule 4 was being suspended in order that resolutions calling for appropriations may be voted upon the same evening as presented.

Walkill Sewer District assessments were presented.

Clerk Robert A. Snyder announced meetings of the Equalization Committee, Salary Study Committee and the Budget Committee would be held this afternoon.

The board adjourned to meet next Thursday night.

Noe, a resident of Vineyard Avenue, Highland, in his petition states that the returns gave Petitioner Noe 1261 votes and Gaffney 1266 votes.

There were two military ballots cast for Gaffney and three for Noe. Gaffney was credited with nine absentee votes and Petitioner Noe 15.

The voting machine totals gave Gaffney 1255 votes and Noe 1243. Petitioner alleges no canvass was made of the Military or Absentee ballots. There is no allegation of any error in the votes cast upon the voting machines but petitioner questions the canvass of the military and absentee ballots.

Allegations of Petitioner
Petitioner alleges that the Board of Elections delivered two military ballots to Vincent Gaffney, town clerk, to be delivered to the First Election District. Those ballots were from John J. Slema and Robert D. Casper. Election results show three military ballots were cast in that district, petitioner alleges.

One military ballot was delivered by the Board of Elections to the town clerk for the Second District, that of Frank F. Reilly. No military ballot was cast in that district, petitioner alleges.

Two military ballots were sent out for the Third District, those of Gerald P. Wilkow, and Frank A. Slater. The canvass showed only one ballot was cast.

Petitioner alleged five absentee ballots were sent out by the Election Board for delivery to the Second District. Only four were cast. The ballots were those of Dominick DeDivo, Mary Ann Sandy, Madeline R. Moore, Caramel Carpenter and Pearl Voris.

Nine absentee ballots were sent out for the Third District. Only seven were counted. The voters were Philip J. LaSarsam Jr., Charlotte E. Gaffney, Dianne H. Wadlin, Fred Decker, Eugene Noe, (father of petitioner), John Joseph Mandy, Rowanna J. Harcourt, Neil E. Miller, Edith Evins.

Six absentee ballots were sent out in the Fourth District. The canvass shows, according to petitioner, that eight absentee ballots were counted.

Claims Review Warranted
Petitioner alleges that the vote cast by machine gave Gaffney a plurality of 12 votes, but that was reduced by the absentee ballots to five.

Discrepancies indicated in the count of the military and absentee ballots from that of the number sent out by the Board of Elections, warrants a review, petitioner alleges.

Town Clerk Vincent Gaffney is a cousin of Supervisor John J. Gaffney and resides in Highland.

Figures Seaway To Show Freight Gain This Year

CHICAGO (AP)—The American chief of the St. Lawrence Seaway figured today that it will show a gain in freight volume this year.

Martin W. Oettershagen, administrator of the St. Lawrence Seaway Development Corp., estimated freight will total 22 million tons by the time winter halts operations.

Volume amounted to 20.5 million tons in 1959, when Canada and the United States opened the deepened link between the Great Lakes and the Atlantic Ocean. It eased off to 20.3 million tons in 1960. Tonnage in both those seasons was under advance expectations.

Oettershagen talked with a reporter during sessions of the Great Lakes Commission's annual meeting.

The organization's committee on seaway and navigation took a serious view of a move by Japanese shipping interests to boost charges on freight carried from Great Lakes ports to levels much higher than charges for goods picked up at ocean ports.

Gov. Otto Kerner of Illinois urged lake states and Canadian provinces Thursday to join in drafting a plan for wise and fair use of the tremendous water resources of the great lakes region.

He suggested that Canada consider reversing the direction of some rivers so they will flow into the Great Lakes instead of Hudson Bay.

Kerner did not name the Canadian Rivers or go into detail about damming any rivers to reverse their flow.

The meeting is being attended by representatives of Illinois, Indiana, Michigan, Minnesota, New York, Pennsylvania, Wisconsin, Ohio, Ontario and Quebec.

NEW YORK (AP)—About 1,400 students at three city colleges cut classes Thursday to protest the ban by university authorities on campus appearances of controversial speakers.

Unaware of Royalty

HONG KONG (AP)—Princess Alexandra went sightseeing with the U.S. Navy Thursday night but the Navy didn't know it.

Dressed in a suit and sweater, the pretty, 25-year-old cousin of Queen Elizabeth II rode the cable car to the top of the Peak looking out over Hong Kong. The trip was impromptu and there was no fanfare.

Six American sailors sat at the back of the car cheerfully drinking from a bottle of whisky and unaware of royalty aboard.

Scarbeck Is Given 30 Years in Jail On Secrets Charge

WASHINGTON (AP)—A federal judge has handed former diplomat Irvin C. Scarbeck the maximum prison sentence—30 years—for passing U.S. secrets to Polish Communist agents.

In passing sentence Thursday, Judge Leonard P. Walsh said making an example in Scarbeck's case was a factor he had to keep in mind.

If appeals fail, Scarbeck, 41, would not be eligible for parole until he had served 10 years. Justice Department lawyers said.

A 3½-week trial ended Oct. 27 with Scarbeck's conviction on three counts of passing secret documents to the Communist agents while he was second secretary in the U.S. Embassy at Warsaw.

Scarbeck was sentenced to 10 years in prison for each of the three guilty counts returned by the jury.

Evidence at the trial was that the Poles had surprised him in bed with Ursula Discher, a 23-year-old Polish girl, and blackmailed him into giving them information from the embassy.

An hour-long appeal for mercy failed to deter Walsh from meting out the maximum jail sentence. The judge did not impose a fine after Scarbeck's lawyer, Samuel G. Klein, said Scarbeck was penniless. He could have been fined $30,000.

Indian Complex, Troubled Man

JFK-Nehru Disagreements Hardly Come as Surprise

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—It is no wonder President Kennedy and Indian Prime Minister Nehru, after four days of talks, issued a statement which shows they still disagree on some issues this country considers major.

Nehru, who is just four days short of being 72 and spent more than 13 years in British jails fighting for Indian independence which was won in 1947, is a complex and troubled man.

Irritating at Times

Sometimes in public statements from the American view and probably from the Russian also, he can be an irritating man who acts with an air of superior wisdom as if talking down his nose to a couple of dead-end kids in a dynamite room.

There are also times, at least from the American view, when he looks like a confused man. For instance: when he calls for self-determination for Portuguese Angola but hedges about the same thing for Communist-held East Germany.

It has been said of him that he is a great Indian leader but a poor world one. Yet, he is forever talking on world affairs. He couldn't avoid it.

As head of more than 438 million people—more than in the United States and Soviet Russia combined—he's involved in the world in a big way and yet cannot bring his country into the 20th century without outside help.

Jars Both Sides

He's jarred Americans, whose aid he has accepted, and he's jarred the Russians, who recently pledged India more than a half billion dollars, by disagreeing with both on some issues.

Because of this he is the prime example of the problem this country has in dealing with the leaders of many backward nations.

His idea of what's right, wrong or necessary—judged from where he stands and by his problems—cannot possibly coincide with the American or Russian views, or their interests, in every situation.

For this reason, and because of the size and importance of his nation, he does represent a view shared, some of the time if not always, by others among the so-called neutralists.

He made this point himself Thursday at the National Press Club when, asked whether he thinks the "neutrals have been fair to the United States," he said:

"The problem is difficult to answer on behalf of other countries. But please remember that all these countries are full of their own problems. Questions like this and such questions as Berlin and Germany are at the fringes of their minds."

Still, while he has fairly ready answers for others' problems, he has some of his own still unresolved. For instance, his dispute with the government of Pakistan over the state of Kashmir or with the Red Chinese over their invasion of India.

He still hasn't been able to cope with one of his most tormenting internal problems: the increase of 10 million people a year in India's population.

And even his economic progress, despite outside help, has been fairly slow. Last summer a U.N. survey showed that out of 32 developing countries India is almost slowest in progress.

Last September he visited Moscow and talked with Premier Khrushchev. And, just as in his meeting with Kennedy this week, he and the Russians agreed on some issues, disagreed on others.

Points to JFK Problems

He now denounces, although he didn't say it in the statement he and Khrushchev put out, Russia's resumption of nuclear testing. He doesn't agree with Kennedy on self-determination for Communist East Germany.

But Nehru's visit points up as well as anything some of the problems Kennedy has, too. This country is friendly, and wants to remain that way, with both India and Pakistan which are not friendly at all.

Last July Kennedy entertained Pakistan's President Ayub Khan and they, too, issued a statement on their talks. The best Kennedy seemed able to do, without offending either side, was to say he hoped India and Pakistan would settle their Kashmir trouble.

Butter Surplus Is Building Up, Washington Says

WASHINGTON (AP)—A new surplus of butter is building up in government hands.

The Agriculture Department reported today it had stocks totaling 160 million pounds on Oct. 31 compared with 16 million a year earlier. This increase reflects a sharp increase in government purchase of dairy products under price support programs.

Purchases of surplus butter between April 1 and Oct. 31 totaled 215 million pounds, compared with 82 million in the like period last year.

Behind this increase is an upturn in milk production unaccompanied by a similar increase in consumption of milk and other dairy products.

Between April 1 and Oct. 31, the department donated 66 million pounds of butter to the school lunch program, charitable institutions and needy persons.

College President Says He Was Let Go for Doing Job

OYSTER BAY, N.Y. (AP)—John F. Lee—fired as president of the State University's Long Island Center—here—says he was "hanged" for doing his job.

He also says he is sure that "they" do not want a major university on Long Island.

Lee, who made his complaint at a news conference at his campus home Thursday, did not say who "they" were.

Lee discussed his case shortly after the State University's board of trustees, meeting in New York City, removed him from his $23,000-a-year post.

Asked for Probe

The oyster came a day after Lee appealed to Gov. Rockefeller for an investigation of the present and past administrations at the center.

The board said through its chairman, Frank C. Moore, that Lee's request to the governor had nothing to do with his dismissal.

The oyster, Moore said, was the "culmination of months of dissatisfaction with Lee's failure to demonstrate in his day-to-day performance qualities so necessary in a college president."

From North Carolina

Lee came here as president last February from the State College of the University of North Carolina where he was chairman of the mechanical engineering department.

The board of trustees assigned Dr. Thomas Hamilton, president of the State University, to take over Lee's duties until a successor is named.

APPOINTMENT OF TRUSTEES

Residents of Ulster County want the young people of this area to have the advantages of a two-year Community College. They said so emphatically at the polls in the general election Tuesday.

The Ulster County Board of Supervisors desired to have the people make the decision and the people responded affirmatively for the establishment of the local college. With this clear cut mandate, it is believed the Board of Supervisors will act speedily to carry out the wishes of the people by appointing trustees, the first step in the college project.

The $200,000 offer by Macdonald DeWitt, efforts by the Citizens Advisory Committee and the Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce committee in explaining the advantages and costs and the endorsements and recommendations by many local organizations helped to assure the overwhelmingly favorable vote. The total number who expressed an opinion on the college proposal was over fifty per cent of those who went to the polls in the general election and of those who voted on the community college proposition two-thirds cast favorable ballots.

When the board of trustees is appointed, the first order of business will be the selection of a site. We first must have a location before any further steps are taken toward establishment of the new college here. Therefore, it is imperative that the trustees be named immediately so that we can get going on the project.

The supervisors will select five trustees and the Governor will name four. The trustees will have the final say on the site and decide the type of building to be constructed. They also will set up the budget and submit the courses to be selected.

UNEMPLOYED TRASH BURNERS

Not so very long ago huge and busy trash burners, two or three stories high, adjoined the lumber mills. They belched smoke and fire as they disposed of the great amount of waste that resulted when trees were transformed into boards and shingles and other such natural products.

It's very different now. The burners are pretty generally if not entirely idle. They're unemployed. For nowadays almost nothing is wasted. Almost everything that comes from a tree—all the bits and pieces, all the odds and ends—has a valuable use.

This is the fruit of research and experimentation. More than 4,000 products are made from wood, wood fibers, and wood chemicals. A few of them: Cellophane, plastics, insulation, lacquers, photograph film, shotgun shells, fabrics for clothing, furniture, boxes and cartons.

It's analogous to the old saying that packers use all of the pig but the squeal. The tree that once was part of a forest serves us every day in an almost incredible variety of ways. And we're going to keep on having forests, due to modern "sustained yield" logging methods, based on the tree farm idea, where new growth equals or exceeds the cut.

So this country's supply of wood and its 4,000 by-products is assured. And that's a matter of top importance. For wood, despite the development of competitive products, holds its preeminent place in our lives, because of its attractiveness, durability, adaptability and economy.

'These Days'

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY
WHO'S A LIBERAL?

I am not a book-reviewer and shall probably get into some violent argument over "An Answer To Goldwater," which should be reviewed by someone who has nothing else to do. However, the publisher sent me this book without any request on my part and I assume that an unfavorable review sells as many books as a favorable one. In fact, an author once wrote to me asking that I attack his book as he thought that that would bring it circulation. I declined to perpetrate such an outrage.

"An Answer To Goldwater" was written by Millard L. Howell, Professor of American History, Evening College, Drexel Institute of Technology. Professor Howell devotes a page to "The Meaning of Liberalism" and that ought to start an argument, no Liberal agreeing with another, each having a definition of his own for the truth of which he will fight a battle of verbal violence.

Professor Howell's definition is: "Real American Liberalism is the incorporation of man's innate rights and duties in contractual form in order to procure the best in life for the American people. This recognizes the democratic principle of majority rule with due recognition and respect for the rights of the minority. A real Liberal knows that a self-regulatory economy can produce nothing of permanent value. The opposite of the American-liberal way of life is the reactionary form of government, represented by the Conservatives. The results of reactionary government redound to the benefit of a small group of extremely wealthy people who rebel at government which represents all of the people rather than this small selfish group of the elite. A Liberal adheres to our Constitution and the Bill of Rights. A Liberal-American's creed is equality of opportunity. Our aim is to preserve our capitalist system and to oppose any Communist or reactionary attempt to destroy it."

The first sentence puzzles me as a definition. For instance, what are man's innate rights? Let us say that we are referring to a cannibal—what are his innate rights? Or is this definition limited to an American? Surely an Uzbek has no innate rights which Soviet Russia recognizes as such. The Declaration of Independence recognizes that man possesses unalienable rights which come to him from Nature's God and Nature's Law. But are those rights innate as, for example, the genes are innate?

Let us go a step further. The professor himself finds his way to Rousseau and discovers "man's innate rights and duties in contractual form."

But where does government exist by contract? Government is the imposition of a rule of life and law either by force or accepted by consent. The American theory is government by choice which is unrelated to majority rule. In fact, throughout American history, power has been expressed by a small and powerful minority, the majority never asserting itself. The Constitution at no place delegates rights to the majority but rather protects the individual from the tyranny of the majority. The Fifth and Fourteenth Amendments, in particular, defend the rights of one man being from the possibility of control and domination by a majority. Majority rule is authorized nowhere in the Constitution. In fact, provision is made for the choice of the President by the Electoral College, for the choice of Senators by state legislatures, by the appointment of the Federal Judiciary for life—to avoid majority rule.

A statement that the opposite of the American liberal way of life is the reactionary form of government seems to me nonsense. The adjective, reactionary, is not explained. Dozens of forms of government exist which are not in any way replicas of the "American-liberal way of life," and they serve their people advantageously. It all depends upon local conditions and needs.

The word, reactionary, means colloquially a restoration of a condition or procedure which existed at some prior time. It could be a reaction to current demands for change. Is the government of France under De Gaulle progressive or reactionary? He is apparently attempting to establish stability after the political chaos following World War II and the miseries brought on by the liberalism of proportional representation. Or is the current government of Ghana progressive, liberal or reactionary? Or is it indescribable?

I did not read further in the professor's book because this attempt to adjective liberalism was enough for me. That definition would describe Barry Goldwater as a liberal which would be offensive to him.

Permissive vs. Sippy Diet

In the Treatment of Ulcers

By HAROLD T. HYMAN, M.D.

Written for Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Q—My husband has had a stomach ulcer for years. Whenever it begins to bother him, he puts himself on the Sippy diet of milk and cream with the alkaline powders he was ordered to take when he was first treated. Last week, he had an attack of kidney colic and the specialist who examined him found a stone and said the stone might have formed as a result of the diet. Could that possibly be true? If it's true, should he discontinue the diet?

A—The answer to both questions is "yes." For some years now the sequence of events you describe has come to be recognized by all observant physicians. In fact, it's become so common it's been given its own name of the "milk-alkali syndrome," or "Burnett's syndrome," after the doctor who first called it to his colleagues' attention. What happens, in brief, is a constant increase in the time between (calcium) of the blood. As a result of this calcium excess, changes are noted in the eyes. There may be aching in the bones and joints; kidney function is impaired. Stones may form in the urinary tract.

Partly as a result of these complications, many physicians have abandoned the once-classic Sippy routine.

Indeed some stomach specialists have come around to the view that I have long held that patients do as well, if not better, on a "permissive" diet. By this is meant a diet that consists of foods the patient knows, by experience, "sit well" with his particular and peculiar intestinal tract. While on a permissive diet, medication is reduced to a minimum. Discomfort and even pain are avoided or relieved by frequent feedings. And these feedings are taken again according to experience, not by the time clock.

Q—I had a complete hysterectomy when I was 48 years old. It's now 16 months since the operation and I'm still taking hormone shots although the only menopausal symptoms I've had—and still have—are occasional hot flashes. Some of my friends tell me they have been taking shots for as long as 20 years. Will my body ever make its own hormones after the shots, or will I have to keep on?

A—Let me give you the facts as I know them, and then you answer your own questions. An occasional hot flash is a passing discomfort that may be embarrassing but cannot possibly inflict any permanent damage. You've been having them for 16 months during which time you've had your shots and they've not produced any significant effect or you wouldn't have made your inquiry.

Many physicians, the most recent being Drs. Gusberg and Hall of the Columbia-Presbyterian Medical Center, are fairly well persuaded that there is a causal relationship between the development of certain types of cancers of the womb and long term exposure to female sex hormones (estrogens) whether the estrogens are rubbed in with a cosmetic preparation, taken by mouth or injected.

Now you add all this up and tell me the answers to your questions.

WASHINGTON, (NEA) —

Some Russian and American economists frequently quote figures to show how fast the Soviet Union is gaining on the U. S. industrially. They project these gains forward in the same way that possible missile production was projected to produce a missile gap that never arrived.

They come up with a heavy industry production gap that would have the Soviet outdistancing the United States in ability to produce war weapons.

NEW ECONOMIC STUDIES are now available. They have been made by a combination of government and private economists.

These studies show that Soviet growth, while strong and dangerous, is not so startling when put in perspective. Before the revolution, Russia had the world's fifth-largest economy. Much of that production was cut back in the revolution. Early Soviet growth was in part a recovery from that revolution. Such recoveries are usually rapid.

Soviet growth following World War II was in part recovery from the war. The new studies show Japan and Germany have outpaced the Russians in that period. The U. S., when in the stage Russia is in now, grew at a pace faster than Russia has shown.

MOST STARTLING STATEMENTS about Soviet growth compare Red output of such items as coal and steel, not noting that U. S. increases in these line have slackened, partly because of new products, partly because basic needs have been met. They compare numbers of new machine tools, forgetting U. S. tools are becoming more complicated.

A recent Department of Commerce study tabulates the growth of 300 U. S. industrial products for the past 12 years. Since 1948, more than 50 of these have grown at 10 per cent a year or better.

These include: Aluminum ingots, radio transistors, heat pumps, polyethylene plastic fibers, titanium sponge, gasoline engines, synthetic fibers, magnetic decoders, DDT, antibiotics, jet fuel, vitamins, frozen foods, paper milk containers, television sets.

These studies indicate that in the new areas U. S. industry is usually growing faster than is Russia's.

This leads some Washington economists and mathematicians to regard with skepticism forward projections of Russian growth that assume the rate will be almost as great in the future as in the past.

As some economists working with the National Planning Association put it, "The publicity given to impressive Soviet achievements in the field of space, intercontinental missiles and jet aircraft should not blind us to the fact that, outside of a very few fields, original applications of scientific knowledge to industrial processes in the U. S. have been rare."

THERE HAS BEEN A NOTABLE CONTRAST between the quality of Soviet fundamental research and the application of techniques to industry, these men point out. Soviet industrial development has been extremely uneven. Some sectors have hardly been touched by modernization. Even in the priority industries, the full mechanization of basic processes is often accompanied by primitive hand operations.

As admitted by M. Gorshunov, director of the Soviet Union's labor research institute, as printed in Pravda, 35 per cent of the labor in the steel industry is still manual. So is 40 per cent in the chemical industry, 50 per cent in engineering and coal mining, 60 per cent in building.

Economists here say the average industrial productivity in the Soviet Union is about one-third that of the U. S. Agricultural productivity is even lower. And in absolute terms, Soviet productivity is growing about two-thirds as fast as in the U. S.

SOME ECONOMISTS REASON the Soviet quota system frequently make innovations difficult.

It is always easier to avoid the risk involved in the adoption of something new, and to proceed in the old way until ordered to do otherwise, says one.

The Soviet humor magazine "Krokodil" prints the story of the man who perfected a button-sewing machine for the clothing trade. He was told to stop bothering people with button-sewing in an age of Sputniks.

According to Pravda, the inventor of an efficient small boiler found that no factory would touch it. The boiler output plan was expressed in terms of heating surface.

THE ADOPTION of the more efficient invention would make it more difficult to fulfill the quota.

THIS IS NOT TO SAY the future growth of the Soviet economy will not be large and dangerous to the U. S. It will.

This is not to say the Reds won't have future space successes. These are accomplished by the concentration of men and materials, by taking advantage of their best minds plus the best of the West has to offer in inventions. They are put into effect by raw, brute, pioneering effort.

It won't be because the Reds are eight feet tall, say the economists.

Today in National Affairs

A Later Look at Voting: Republicans Also Gained

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON—When President Franklin D. Roosevelt was asked at a press conference one day in 1938 about an off-year election in which the Democrats lost seats in Congress, he insisted that the issues were "local" and that it was not logical to try to draw from the results any inference of a national trend.

President Kennedy at his Wednesday press conference was also well aware of the tendency to draw conclusions from election results across the country and frankly said that, if the Democrats had lost in the races for Governor of New Jersey and for Mayor of New York City, there would have been plenty of comments by Republicans interpreting this as a vote of disapproval of the Administration and its policies.

But, leaving aside the naturally partisan viewpoints, expressed by politicians on the day after an election, the fact remains that, when the statistics in each party headquarters start examining the figures in detail, they will be telling the leaders that the 1961 election shows some discouraging factors for the Democrats and some very encouraging ones for the Republicans.

For an analysis of the statistics in Congressional elections in the last three decades reveals that the party in power, with rare exceptions, loses ground in off-year elections. The trend downward, however, during the 1954 and 1958 off-year elections of the two Eisenhower terms was so marked that it has never been satisfactorily explained. For in some Congressional districts the Republican drop-off in voting often amounted to as much as 50 per cent while the Democrats, due to intensive organization or labor-union support, would rarely drop as much as 20 per cent.

Analyzing Jersey Vote
Republican statisticians have been trying for years to figure out reasons for this. The results in 1961 suddenly show a reversal of the tide. Thus, in New Jersey in the governorship race, the Republicans made a gain of about 155,000 votes over their vote for governor four years ago while the Democrats gained only 3,000 votes compared to 1957. If it had not been for the predictions made by some of the Republican leaders in New Jersey that their candidate would surely win, and if instead they had spoken of a close race, the public would not have been surprised at the result when Mr. Mitchell lost.

Actually, the moment President Kennedy decided to go to New Jersey to make a speech for the Democratic nominee, it should have been a tip-off to the press and to the public that private polls indicated the probable success of the Democrat candidate for Governor. It is doubtful whether Mr. Kennedy would have risked intervention in the New Jersey campaign unless he were reasonably sure of the outcome.

What is bound to cause dismay among Democrats in various cities in the states of New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Ohio and Connecticut is the substantial rise in the Republican vote. The gains were enough to bring several local victories. Even in places where the Republicans lost, they managed to come closer to victory than in recent years.

Local Issues
What, it may be asked, is the basic reason for this upsurge of Republican strength? Can it be attributed to any dissatisfaction with national policies, and can the Democratic vote be regarded as a vote of approval of the Kennedy administration. The answer that has to be given is that in every case the issues were local and there was not the slightest connection with national policies. This doesn't mean that attempts to drag in the national situation were lacking, for the Democrats in New Jersey did try to make it a vote of confidence in the national Administration.

What may really be inferred from a study of the results of local elections is that discontent with an existing mayor or governor piles up a negative vote in subsequent election. The party in power has uniformly lost ground in an off-year elections, and this was true even in the New Deal era. Mr. Roosevelt at the top of the ticket came through with a bigger majority for a second term than for the first, but thereafter between Presidential administration lost seats in both houses of Congress. The party out of power usually benefits from mistakes made and from accumulated grievances. But there are signs sometimes that, when such emotions bring the voter to the polls in off-year elections, the total vote of the opposition is likely to be larger. The Republicans did get their vote out in many places last Tuesday, including New York City, where they made a 42 per cent increase in their vote as compared with four years ago. The Republicans have always claimed a large reservoir of strength. This has been regarded by them of a potential balance of power in elections, but it has never been determined conclusively by anybody whether the stay-at-homes are conservatives of radicals or just indifferent citizens.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

If Nikita Khrushchev had decreed that Lenin and Stalin, both should be divested of their godship he would have dissolved the very religion of Communism which pretends to have no gods but which soon learned that the Soviet Empire could not live without a deity. But in repudiating Stalin, Khrushchev nevertheless encouraged Americans to question the divinity which the Democratic machine and much of our press conferred on Franklin D. Roosevelt. I am warned that the time is not quite ripe to propose that Roosevelt's grave be stricken from the Department of the Interior's roll of holy places and that the family should mow the grass and keep vandals at bay who might otherwise dash irreverent cracks on the stone. But is it ever too early to revoke a mistake? Is Roosevelt really God?

We have more than enough immortal mortals most of whom were only politicians and few of whom partook of generous nobility and honor. I would repudiate them all, not in anger but only to rid ourselves of a submission. Does the sensible Frenchman feel a spiritual twinge at the tomb of Napoleon? I have passed General President Grant's tomb a thousand times without that lowering of the eyes which is deemed appropriate in proximity to shrines. Grant was a patriotic army officer who became President in a regime which stood as a horrible example until F. D. Roosevelt banished the Grant Administration from serious consideration in this respect. But Grant was, like Andrew Jackson, an honest man in money matters, grievous though his other faults were, whereas Roosevelt was a personal grafter. A salacious press and the Democratic Party were diligent to advertise Harding's carelessness, but he never took a dishonest dollar. Any rakeoff which a few of his henchmen took, not necessarily with his permission, was petty by comparison. Mrs. Harding, a modest but resolute lady, brought to the White House a conventional respect for the office. If it ever occurred to her to plant any relatives on any public payroll and to fatten her own account by lecturing at $2,000 plus two round trips from Washington, she put the idea out of her mind.

By referring back no further than the Hoover and Coolidge families, we may educate ourselves in the degraded standard which was instituted as soon as we got our first Presidential family which unblushingly pretended to the status of aristocracy.

I emphasize these phases of political morality because they are peculiar to our standard. Europeans did not mind graft very much. It was inherent in their way. But we have always pretended, at least, to abhor the exploitation of public office for unauthorized financial profit. Then we found President Roosevelt blackmailing loans out of rich, vulnerable men for his son, and laughing at his wife's practical crudity.

If we had had such a man as Stalin, who resorted to massacre as a method of political reform, we probably would have fought him with a revolution. But the unarmed Russian minorities, the Ukrainians, Uzbeks, Poles and Balts, were doubly disarmed. They had no weapons and they were seduced and dragged into a servile condition with the plausible argument that they had nothing to lose but their chains. But they didn't lose their chains.

Due their chains.

If Stalin was not good enough to keep his pedestal more than eight years in a country so benighted, it is still untimely to remind "free" Americans, always so proud of their upright manliness, that we have defiled for twice that time an American President.

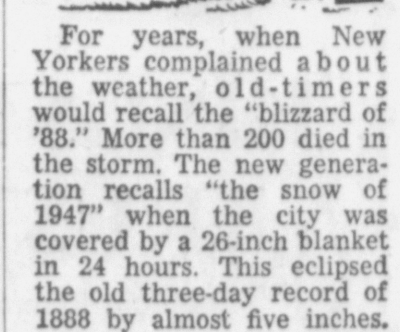

We cannot undo the damage that Roosevelt wrought in our national soul, an effect now called "adolescent crime" and other euphemisms. But we can examine the stultifying proposition thrust upon our very soul, that this bad man's pagan grave, with a dog buried in the same plot and without any symbol of religion on the stone, is a national shrine.

We never voted to make a shrine of this grave. He fixed that himself, by stealth.

If Russia can repudiate Stalin can't we return Roosevelt to the custody of his own family?

matter of FACT

For years, when New Yorkers complained about the weather, old-timers would recall the "blizzard of '88." More than 200 died in the storm. The new generation recalls "the snow of 1947" when the city was covered by a 26-inch blanket in 24 hours. This eclipsed the old three-day record of 1888 by almost five inches.

State System Called Inequitable

University Group Studying School Transportation, Backs Speno View

Editors: This is the second of a two-part series on school-bus transportation, a controversial issue in New York State.

By MICHAEL KEATING
ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—Sen. Edward J. Speno, who contends that the State Education Department and school districts are mismanaging school-bus transportation, has support in his criticism. A New York University group that studied ways of economizing in public education said last year that the formula under which the state reimburses school districts for transportation costs was cumbersome and inequitable.

Point to Saving
Some school districts are being overpaid, the group said. It also said the state, rather than the schools, should buy school buses. Some states have realized savings of 40 and 50 per cent, the group said.

A committee comprising representatives of the schools now is studying the transportation problem. In addition, the Diefendorf Committee, which is surveying the whole financial structure of public education in the state, might come up with recommendations in the field next year.

But the Education Department does not now consider that there are serious ills in the transportation system. It plans no 1962 legislative recommendations.

The Cadillac school-bus case is regarded by the department as a bizarre incident in a program the department believes works well otherwise.

Denies Any Fault
Speno, however, says it is not working well and that it's not his fault. He says the trouble existed prior to passage of the Speno law, which increased the distance school districts must transport pupils.

Transportation and education should be separated, the senator says, because the Education Department is not properly constituted to handle statistics and detailed problems of transportation.

There is, he says, inadequate administration, failure of school districts to coordinate their bus routes and unnecessary and excessive money being spent by districts for purchase and operation of buses.

Explains Program
He says his 1962 legislative program would:

—Transfer jurisdiction of school-bus transportation from the Education Department to the Public Service Commission, which regulates other forms of public transportation and utilities.

—Provide that the cost of transporting a child to a private or parochial school not exceed the cost of educating that child in a public school.

—Create zones in which school districts could share transportation facilities.

—Encourage public carriers to take over school transportation on a competitive basis under PSC control.

—Re-evaluate present state aid and school bus quotas to eliminate situations where school districts make profits on transportation aid.

Cites Cadillac Case
Speno cites the Wessendorf Cadillac case and another one on Long Island as exhibits of poor administration. The Long Island case involves a high school girl who wants transportation to a private school, a trip the local school board estimates would cost the district $5,000 a year in ferryboat and bus fares. The issue has been taken to the education commissioner.

The school system in Solway, near Syracuse, is paying $1,620 to transport two pupils 10 miles to a private school.

Some persons contend the Speno law has contributed greatly to the transportation problem. But at this point there is no documentation of this charge.

The Education Department had urged Gov. Rockefeller to veto the bill on the ground it was faultily drawn and would cost too much.

The bill was amended extensively the next year because it was considered faulty.

Has He the Answer
If you concede that school transportation is in a mess, are Speno's proposals the answer?

The State School Boards Association thinks not. At its recent convention in Syracuse it defeated a resolution that would have endorsed part of Speno's plan. The reception of the Education Department also has been cold.

But Speno has overcome hostility from these two institutions previously. He could do so again if he convinced his fellow legislators, principally the Republican legislative leaders, and the governor.

The school-bus issue is an especially sensitive one in politics because of the great concern Catholics have in the issue.

Had the governor vetoed the Speno bill, his action could have been construed as anti-Catholic. This factor undoubtedly will weigh greatly in further GOP deliberations on the subject.

Scout Pack 10 Slates Herricks Marionette Show

Herricks Marionettes will for the third year present a show under the sponsorship of Cub Scout Pack 10 in Lake Katrine School Friday, Nov. 17 at 7 p. m. They will present the story of the Prince and the Mermaid.

Janet and Ronald Herrick have been producing marionette shows for the past 16 years. Herrick, who taught puppetry at the famous Angelo Patri School in New York City, built the marionettes he works with and prepared the scenery and property, and provides the lighting effects. Mrs. Herrick does the costuming and writes the scripts.

Saccaman Takes Steps on Reforms, Appreciates Aid

Republican city judge-elect, Joseph D. Saccaman, today said he has taken steps toward fulfillment of the city court reform recommendations he proposed during his campaign.

He made the announcement while saying he thanked the electorate for voting him into the office, and complimenting the incumbent, Judge Aaron E. Klein for the high level on which he conducted his campaign as the opposing Democratic candidate.

The local attorney praised the assistance he received from City Republican Chairman Howard C. St. John, the Young Republican Club, Women's Republican Club and the Independent Committee promoting his election under the chairmanship of Attorney Joseph J. Qualtere.

Saccaman has proposed a Clergyman's Advisory Committee for couples appearing in court; formation of a safe-driving clinic for repeat traffic law offenders; the increase of the monetary jurisdiction of small claims court above its present limit of $100; issuance on small claim judgments through the clerk of the city court which would assist in collection of small claims awards at minimum expense; continuation of a study of court administration in the light of the social and economic demands of the times.

Saccaman said he hoped to have the reforms implemented soon after he takes office January 1.

Fallout Viewed

ed States next spring, the panelists estimated, will be 2½ times as potent as in any previous year because of the Soviet tests.

They estimated the additional amount of strontium 90, a radioactive chemical that is attracted to bone and can cause cancer and leukemia, will be equal to three-fourths as much as has fallen from all previous nuclear explosions.

Based on Studies
The fallout estimates are based on studies of previous nuclear blasts. However, the panelists said the 30 and 50-plus megaton bombs exploded could have thrown radioactive debris farther into space than normal. This, they suggested, could delay some of the expected fallout well beyond next spring.

BOSTON (AP)—A fleet of 50 or more Soviet trawlers and two large mother ships are patrolling the fishing grounds barely 50 miles from the Cape Cod summer home of President Kennedy.

That was confirmed Thursday by Associated Press newsman Don Rothberg and AP photographer J. Walter Green.

They flew over the scene after the complaint of a Cape skipper that there were so many Soviet ships on Georges Bank "they're crowding us out."

The AP pair said some of the ships carry the Red flag and the pointed insignia of the hammer and sickle, similar to the ones carried in Moscow parades.

Rothberg reported that from 200 feet in the air, at least, it appeared some of the vessels were not interested in fishing for fish.

Flying over the fleet, Rothberg said, the crews "stopped working momentarily, looked up grinning and waved at us. One of them was a woman."

"There were no military uniforms or guns or tanks, only a group of fishermen who looked like their American counterparts," Rothberg said.

"I could count 25 Russian trawlers in one group. A few miles beyond was another large group and in between were smaller groups of three or four trawlers. The whole Russian fleet covered a circular area about 50 miles in diameter.

"They work methodically in groups of three or four, covering every inch of their assigned area. Looking straight down at one, I saw the sun reflecting on its catch which nearly filled the hold."

"But when I looked at the many others, I searched in vain for any sign of fish or net lines in the water. They were trawlers, not different from the others, but from the air, at least, there was no sign they were fishing for fish."

The trawlers were located about 20 miles from Chatham, Mass., and no more than 50 miles from the summer White House at Hyannis Port.

Shuttle Across Red Road Quiet For U.S. Troops

BERLIN (AP)—First elements of a motorized U.S. infantry company arrived in West Berlin today, beginning a new armed shuttle across the Communist-patrolled highway from West Germany.

Lt. Richard P. Jennings, 25, of Cincinnati, Ohio, headed the vanguard. He reported no difficulties with the Soviets or anyone else.

Checked by Reds
The journey across the 110-mile stretch of Communist East Germany took three hours and 40 minutes. The U.S. soldiers, wearing steel helmets and full battle dress, were checked for 45 minutes at the Marienborn checkpoint. The Russians counted them, but did not force them to dismount. Twenty minutes was spent at the U.S. Babelsberg checkpoint outside Berlin.

The first group of about 60 men rode into Berlin aboard four jeeps, two 3½-ton trucks and three 2½-ton trucks with trailers. A recoilless rifle was mounted on one of the jeeps.

Two additional groups were following to complete the movement into Berlin of Co. D of the 1st Battle Group, 15th Infantry, 3rd Division.

More Movements Due
The company is scheduled to spend a few days training here and then return over the Red-controlled autobahn to its base in Bamberg, Bavaria.

The Army announced Thursday that similar movements to and from Berlin are planned for units both in West Germany and West Berlin as training exercises.

This would make it possible for the Army to keep American units rolling along the highway at frequent intervals without assigning formal patrols to the road, something to which the Soviets strenuously object.

Some COP . . .
would be eliminated in a reduction of the congressional delegation from 43 to 41 seats. New York is losing representation because its population growth has lagged behind that of the nation as a whole.

Stratton Would Be Out
Under the re-apportionment plan, to take effect with the 1962 elections, two Democratic seats would be eliminated in Manhattan, two in Brooklyn and one Upstate, that now held by Samuel S. Stratton of Schenectady.

Two new districts would be created on booming Long Island. In Thursday's debate on fallout shelters, several Democrats questioned the wisdom of the Rockefeller plan.

They argued there was conflicting scientific opinion as to the effectiveness of shelters, which were designed to protect occupants from radioactive fallout following nuclear attack.

Vernor M. Ingram, R-St. Lawrence, spoke on the measure for the Republican majority. He said the plan was a "first step" toward adequate protection and the $100 million appropriated might not be spent for three, four or five years.

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market continued to move irregularly early this afternoon as trading fell off to the slowest rate of the week.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up .10 at 264.30 with industrials up .30, rails off .40 and utilities up .20.

Gains and losses of most key stocks were small, stretching to around a point at the outside. A scattering of more speculative stocks moved more widely.

It was the second straight session of what appeared to be consolidation following the market's upsurge earlier in the week. Technicians noted that the Dow Jones industrial average was near its record peak and a supply of stock at that level constituted a kind of upside resistance band. At the same time, ordinary preweekend caution came into play.

Corporate bonds edged higher. U.S. government bonds were unchanged.

Dam Is Broken

It was reported to the Town Board that a dam was broken open permitting the water at Tucker's Pond to run out over adjacent land and leaving several hundred fish, mostly carp, stranded. The dead fish were reported to be strewn over land between Sackett and Hoyt Streets in Port Ewen.

The board agreed to contact Ulster County Health Department about the problem. The water was let out late Monday or early Tuesday, Tucker's Pond is located adjacent to Main Street and just west of Sackett Street. It had not been determined at press time why or by whom the waters were released.

An excavation originally dug for a house foundation and left unattended for over a year was reported to the Town Board as a menace to the many children in the area. It was reported the property changed hands several times. Due to the high clay content of the soil, the excavation is continuously filled with water varying from six inches to two feet in depth.

The board voted to notify the owner of the property at the corner of Lindorf Street and Mountain View Avenue, Port Ewen. He will be given a specified period to fill the excavation or the Town Board will authorize that the work be done and the owner charged.

Awarded Certificate

A certificate of merit from the United Nations was presented to Councilman Sol Rosenthal, chairman of the U.N. Day held in the township on October 24.

In answer to a request, the Town Board received a letter from the Association of Towns, who stated that in their opinion, fees under the State Building Code could not be waived for the construction of fallout shelters. Councilman Rosenthal made the request at a previous meeting.

DeVall H. Dunbar, building inspector reported that 17 permits covering construction valued at $97,799 had been issued during the past month.

The board accepted deeds of dedication from J. H. Clark for two new town streets—Agnes Street and May Park Terrace—located on the old Kirm farm property off Salem Street, Port Ewen.

Adm. David M. Tyree, commander of Operation Deep Freeze, said an intense fire broke out on the Neptune's flight deck just after the takeoff and apparently the heavy smoke obscured the vision of the pilot and copilot. There were suggestions also that they were affected by fumes.

The Navy said the service personnel killed in the crash were Lt. Cmdr. William Douglas Counts, USN, husband of Jeannette V. Counts of (15 Lafayette Way) East Greenwich, R.I.; William Wayne Chastain, aviation structural mechanic 1.C., husband of Shelby Gene Chastain of (78 Bay View Ave.) Mt. The injured were Lt. Elias J. Stentz, Hicksville, N.Y., pilot of the plane; Clarence C. Allen Jr., Portsmouth, Va., aviation electronics technician 2.C.; Jack C. Shaffer, Greenwich, R.I., aviation electrician's mate 1.C., and Lt. (j.g.) Ernest L. Hand, Elm Mott, Tex.

The plane was attached to Air Development Squadron 6, based at the Naval Air Station at Quonset Point, R.I.

Esopus Township Adopts Budget; To Raise $115,319

Esopus Town Board following a public hearing Wednesday night adopted a budget calling for $115,319.18 to be raised by general taxation. The tax rate for 1962 will not be known until the county charges are added to the budget.

The preliminary budget was adopted with the exception of two increases. The highway machinery fund was increased by $3,500 to provide for the purchase of a new wing plow for the snow removal equipment.

To Pay Half
The proposed budget of Port Ewen Water District was increased by $7,500 to pay off half of the emergency water supply project costs.

The general fund totals $22,471.68 which is $8,771.66 less than last year. The total to be raised for highway purposes is $91,337.50, an increase of $1,149 over last year.

At the regular board meeting that followed the hearing, William J. C. Buddenhagen, reporting for the Board of Water Commissioners of the Port Ewen district, said the costs incurred in bringing about an emergency water supply from Esopus Lake totaled $11,906.18. It was also further reported that additional engineering studies are being made concerning a permanent source of water for the district, including a well driven on Island Dock, auxiliary use of water from Esopus Lake, and the use of water from the Hudson River.

The Town Board approved a resolution to borrow $15,000 to cover the costs of the emergency water supply project, and estimated immediate future costs. The money will be paid off in two installments of $7,500 each in January 1962 and January 1963.

Plan Emergency Governments in Case of Attack

WASHINGTON (AP)—Survival lessons for state and local governments—thousands of which might be isolated from federal help after a nuclear attack—have been launched by White House emergency planners.

Stand by skeleton governments are to be formed in cities, counties and states to deal with post-attack wage and price control, rationing, housing and health and economic problems.

Planning conferences will be held in coming months in every state, a spokesman for the Office of Emergency Planning said. They will be modeled after a recent post-attack survival meeting attended by 200 local and state officials and civic leaders in Las Vegas, Nev.

Must Avoid Collapse

"No matter how many megatons are dumped on the United States, the country's surviving resources will be more than adequate for the surviving population," the spokesman said.

He added: "The gravest post-attack problem could be a lapse of local civil authority when communities find themselves cut off from state and federal direction, unless they are able to do the things the state and federal governments do. If they should collapse, there would be martial law—which we are determined to avoid if possible."

Should Be for 90 Days

At the planning sessions the governors, mayors, county boards and businessmen will be brought face to face for the first time with the post-attack problems of survival and recovery, the spokesman said.

The planning should contemplate local self-reliance for up to 90 days after an attack, federal officials say. In that period local authorities and volunteers will have to deal with decontamination, distribution of drugs and medical services, controls over rents, prices and wages, rationing of food, fuel and clothing, the restoration of credit and the provision of cash.

Governor Signs School Shelter, GI Tax Relief

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—Assembly Speaker Joseph F. Carino claimed victory today in his drive to win over a small band of Republican assemblymen whose opposition had threatened a GOP plan to reapportion congressional districts.

The development came in the closing day of a two-day special session of the Legislature, which Thursday approved Gov. Rockefeller's $100-million program to spur construction of fallout shelters in schools.

Carino apparently had help from the Republican governor in winning over enough GOP assemblymen to gain a 76-vote majority. Rockefeller conferred on re-apportionment with Carino in the speaker's office before the session began today.

Killed in Mishap

FULTON, N.Y. (AP) — Laton Frawley, 59, of Martville, Cayuga County, was killed Thursday when his automobile left Route 3 and struck a tree near here.

Do You Remember by Sophie Miller

One of my readers sent me a December 24, 1884, Kingston Daily Freeman. Roller skating must have been popular in those days as I see two advertisements. One is on the Washington Hall Rink, which I take it to be on Abeel Street. Another just reads: "Roller Skating at the Rink, every afternoon and evening."

It seems the rink was efficiently run by a Professor F. A. Searles, instructor and manager. His instructions were 50 cents a lesson, which included admission and use of skates. Tuesday afternoon they had obstacle race, Wednesday, musical party, also turkey hunt, fancy dress and masquerade carnival.

No person was allowed on surface without costume or mask, until 9 o'clock. The doors opened at 7 and the skating commenced at 7:30. Wednesday at the rink, they wore costumes. Friday afternoon was enjoyed by ladies and children, free. Saturday afternoon, they had music. Admission to all this recreation was only a dime. Rink was open in the afternoons from 2 to 5. Horse cars were in attendance at close, so I take it this rink was on the main stem in Kingston.

In another part of the paper they explain a turkey hunt at the rink thus: "A turkey will be suspended above the skating surface and those who wish to hunt for it will be blindfolded and the one who first places his hand upon the bird will be the winner." No doubt it brought a lot of laughs, but not for the turkey.

In this Dec. 24, 1884, they write about ferry sleighs going across the Hudson, so no doubt they tell about the good sleighing on Wall Street and Union Avenue (now Broadway). So many handsome sleighs with horses passed up and down, that one could just imagine himself on Broadway in New York City. Hundreds of sleighs were out, and every one seemed to enjoy himself speeding his animal over the excellent track. On the paved streets the track for sleighing could not have been better. The snow was just deep enough to make a sleigh slip nice and give a horse a good footing. There were many races, for those who had what they considered fast horses and were determined to give them a trial at every opportunity. The ladies also enjoyed the sleigh riding immensely. Such was life in Kingston on the 1880's.

There was excitement too. "A heavy stone wagon came along through Higginsville, and slowing around struck the hydrant at the corner of Washington Avenue, and North Front Streets, napping it off like a pipe stem. The water gushed out flooding the street, but was soon repaired by the water works men."

Another Dec. 24, 1884, item: "The Norwich (Ice King) took 17 canal boats to Slight Dock yesterday. She broke the ice and it floated down the river and the result was the transport (ferry) could not make her way through floating ice and missed one train connection," to Rhinebeck side, the New York Central. The West Shore Railroad on this side was only a year old then, so then as later, the New York Central fast trains were important to Kingstonians. I do not know how a Kingstonian can get a New York Central train today, except perhaps go to Poughkeepsie.

If you don't think that the South hand is worth an opening bid, I won't argue about it, but in the methods used by Sidney Lazard of New Orleans, and Paul Allinger of Alameda, Calif., the hand qualifies.

Sidney and Paul will be representing the United States for the third time, if they are successful in the Houston tryouts. They believe in very light opening bids.

Playing at four spades, Sidney ducked one diamond on general principles and won the second lead of the suit. His next play was a low trump toward dummy. West played the six spot, and Sidney called for the eight from dummy. He did not think that West held the king.

East won with the jack and led a diamond to West. That gave the defense three tricks. West put dummy in with a heart, whereupon Sidney led dummy's queen of spades.

This play is known as "smothering the ten." If East ducked, Sidney would have let the queen ride. When East covered, Sidney's ace dropped West's ten. Now all Sidney had to do was to take the club finesse, pull East's last trump with the nine of spades and claim his contract.

Glancing Over TV Bill of Fare

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP TV-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — "CBS Reports" Thursday night shed some needed light on the confused subject of protection against nuclear fallout in the event of an enemy strike.

The hour-long show, narrated by Howard K. Smith, raised many questions — some unanswerable — and exposed conflicting viewpoints on handling the problem.

Smith made two things clear, however. The only adequate protection from fallout is in shelters, and the shelter program, whether privately or publicly financed, must be supervised and controlled by the federal government if it is to be effective.

It was a grim program about an unpleasant subject. But like a dose of medicine for a sick person, it was one which every adult American should have absorbed.

Looks as if perhaps Steve Allen, after a slow start, is finally hitting a winning stride in his ABC show. His Wednesday night cutting was bright and funny — particularly his good natured spoof of Mitch Miller, CBS' "Checkmate," despite its fairly early-hour spot in the schedule, is going in for some pretty adult themes and words — this week's show was full of forthright references to "an affair" and "a lover."

Garry Moore and Carol Burnett will be guest stars on CBS' new, amusing "Password." NBC has "A Fire Called Jeremiah," a show about a forest fire, scheduled Dec. 3 — rather timely after the disastrous blazes in Los Angeles this week.

Recommended weekend viewing: Tonight: Telephone Hour, NBC, 9:30-10:30 (Eastern Standard Time) — "The Music of Richard Rodgers."

Sunday: "20th Century," CBS, 6-6:30 — A study of unconventional warfare — called "Guerrilla"; "Wonderful World of Toys," NBC, 10-11.

NEW YORK (AP) — Television will take serious-minded viewers traveling during the next few days — to Guam, to Spain and to Berlin — in special documentary programs. In addition, there are several entertainment shows worth noting.

"The Music of Richard Rodgers" is the subject of tonight's Telephone Hour (NBC, 9:30-10:30 EST), with songs by Dolores Gray, Martha Wright and Howard Keel.

Sunday's "20th Century" (CBS, 6-6:30) is the first of two shows demonstrating training of U. S. troops in guerrilla warfare at Ft. Bragg, N. C., and Guam. And ABC's "Maverick" (6:30-7:30) will consist of a parody of NBC's popular "Bonanza." ABC's "Bus Stop" (9-10) will have as its plot the story which was the original William Inge play from which the series jumped, Harpo Marx and Carol Burnett will star in "The Wonderful World of Toys" on NBC's "Show of the Week" (10-11).

Comedienne Pat Carroll makes her debut as a regular on Monday night's "Danny Thomas Show" (CBS, 9-9:30). Tuesday night's best bets are squeezed between 10 and 11 p.m. — ABC's "Family Outing" a drama about an astronaut and his family as the countdown approaches, and a "Close-Up" about East Berlin. At the same time on NBC there's an hour show on present-day Spain, with Chet Huntley commenting.

NBC's special for women on Thursday afternoon (3-4) is "The Glamour Trap" about our national feminine concern with youth and beauty.

Last Time—a Pulitzer
NEW YORK (AP) — Ketti Frings, a busy Hollywood scenarist, is turning to Broadway as an independent producer. A drama, "The Umbrella," is to be her first offering. The work, credited to Bertrand Castell and Raphael Hollander, is to star Geraldine Page and Anthony Franciosa. Mrs. Frings has made one previous visit to the White Way — as the stage adaptor of Thomas Wolfe's "Look Homeward, Angel." That stint won her a Pulitzer Prize.

Board Approves
Painting and Heating Bids

Expenditures totalling nearly $4,000 on township installations were announced at the Town Board meeting Wednesday night at town hall.

It was announced that William Melville of Woodstock was awarded the contract to install the heating system at the Reynolds House adjacent to town hall. Melville's bid of $1,650.00 was the lowest by a wide margin.

Other bids for the heating contract were: Warren Graver, $2,103.00; Allen Electric, $2,375.00; Raymond Cocks, $2,210.25; and Adolph Heckerroth, $1,945.00.

Kurt Quednau was awarded the painting contract for the Reynolds House with a low bid of $778.00. The board also authorized Peter and Ralph Shultis to erect the stone chimney at the Reynolds House at a cost of $502.00.

The board also authorized payment of $1,839.00 to William West as per contract for installing the fence in the water district. West was also paid $980.95 for other services to the township.

Geertsema By-Passed

Councilman Tobie Geertsema, the lone Democratic member of the board whose term expires Dec. 31, said she had not been notified of the special board meeting at which time the Melville contract was awarded. According to Town Law, board members must receive at least 48 hours notice of special meetings. She received no such notice, she said, and also said had not been consulted in the matter of the chimney project at the Reynolds house.

The board authorized renewal of the contract with Central Hudson for the lighting system at Woodstock Gardens at a cost of $339.69.

Clara Van Kleeck was appointed dog enumerator at the usual fee rate. The board gave conditional approval for a trailer permit to George V. Fischer of Kingston. The trailer will be parked on property owned by Grant Decker. Approval is contingent upon compliance with the town ordinance.

The board granted permission for use of town hall to St. John's Roman Catholic parish for the dates of Nov. 16, Nov. 30 and December 7 for a variety show.

Attending the meeting which was also the annual budget hearing were Supervisor Molyneux, Councilman Tobie Geertsema and Justices of the Peace, Charles A. Farley and Rudie Bangarten. Councilman John Pike was absent.

Rotary Club in Observance of Foundation Week

Woodstock Rotarians will join with more than a half million Rotarians in 123 countries next week for a special observance of The Rotary Foundation Week, it was announced today by Alvin E. Moscovitz, president of the Rotary Club of Woodstock.

Local Rotarians will highlight observance of the week on Monday, Nov. 13 at Deane's with a presentation lecture by Dr. Edward Gurland, chairman of Woodstock's Rotary Foundation. He will also read a report from a Foundation Fellow who was sponsored by Rotary Foundation residing at the University of Accra in Ghana, Africa.

Dr. Gurland will also show a most interesting film on international understanding entitled "Project HOOP."

The Rotary Foundation seeks to promote understanding and friendly relations between the people of different nations, says Emile Klipper, chairman of Woodstock Rotary's International Service committee. Its major activity is granting Rotary Foundation Fellowships to outstanding graduate students for one year study abroad as Rotary ambassadors of good will. Since this program was established in 1947 as a memorial to Paul P. Harris, the founder of Rotary, 1,454 young men and women from 70 countries have received Rotary Foundation Fellowships for study in 50 countries, with grants averaging about $2,600. Total grants by the Rotary Foundation for this activity now exceed $3,700,000.

Rotary Fellowships are unique in that, with more than 11,000 Rotary Clubs throughout the world, the student is in direct contact with Rotarians and their families wherever he is studying. He attends their Rotary Club meetings, visits in their homes and places of business, and travels as much as possible during his school holidays. In this way, he sees first hand how the people in his country live and he lays the foundation of increased international understanding which is one of Rotary's principal objectives.

Aldrich Art
Show in Albany

Sixty one paintings and twelve sculptures selected from the collection of Mr. and Mrs. Larry Aldrich will be on view at the Albany Institute of History and Art from Nov. 15 through Dec. 17.

Composed of works by European and American artists dating from 1885 to the present day, the Aldrich Collection offers a variety of styles and subject matter, with particular emphasis on contemporary trends. The exhibition was originated by the American Federation of Arts and is traveling to museums throughout the country under its auspices.

Aldrich, the famous dress designer and manufacturer, has gathered a collection of French Impressionists, German Expressionists and American painters. The collection is not just a list of great names but the record of the discrimination of a collector essentially interested in unusual but characteristic aspects of the artist represented.

Paintings by artists in three general categories include: late 19th century forerunners of modern art; acknowledged leaders of the first half of the 20th century; and younger artists who have recently achieved recognition or are in the process of attaining it.

Among the earliest works on display are Renoir's "Post-humous Portrait of Fredic Bazille" (1885); and Gauguin's "The Washerwoman" (1894). One of Monet's great "Waterlilies" and an early Picasso nude (1908); portraits by Modigliani and Nolde, and compositions by Bonnard, Kandinsky, Klee, Hartley, Leger, Matisse and Utrillo date from the early 1900's.

Progress Made Toward Local Chapter of AAUN

John Walsh, regional director of the American Association for the United Nations, recently addressed a group of more than 30 Woodstock persons meeting at Deane's for the purpose of forming a local chapter of the A.A.U.N.

Walsh, who was introduced by Dwight Harris, chairman of the Woodstock group, spoke eloquently of the urgent need to support the UN now and of the positive work that the UN has done in preventing World War II.

Walsh detailed the many purposes and aims of the A.A.U.N., stating that it is the major national, non-governmental organization composed of individual members and local chapters, whose entire educational program is devoted to building a strong and effective public opinion in support of A.A.U.N.

As a citizens organization, the speaker said, the A.A.U.N. speaks for its members. The more people that it speaks for the stronger is its voice.

A.A.U.N. is supported by membership dues and contributions with no grants from the United States government or the United Nations. There are nominal membership dues each year which are tax deductible.

The A.A.U.N. funds are used for its educational program in this country to give more people more knowledge about the U.N. The membership dollars are an essential part in A.A.U.N.'s educational effort.

Interested persons wanting further information or wishing to join the Woodstock chapter are urged to write to Dwight Harris, 195 Shotwell Road, Woodstock. Checks should be made payable to the Ulster County Chapter of A.A.U.N.

Enjoy today's Ballantine Beer...

Golden Mellow

from Ballantine's own

Golden Harvest

The artist captures a Golden Moment in the Far West — the Golden Harvest of hops that have mellowed two weeks longer on the vine for Ballantine.

©1961, P. BALLANTINE & SONS, NEWARK, N. J.

Today's Golden Mellow Ballantine Beer begins in a land of majestic mountains and deep, fertile valleys — the Golden West. For it is here that Ballantine's own Golden Harvest is gathered.

It is a harvest of Golden Grains and Hops

Malt barley is the principal grain used in the brewing of any beer. The golden barley and other grains that go into Ballantine are fully ripened . . . steeped with flavor . . . truly prime quality. These good golden grains are especially grown . . . especially harvested. They are handled from their very beginnings with one watchword: Care. Care that the young grains soak up enough sunshine and moisture. Very special care at the time of the Golden Harvest.

There is something very special about Ballantine's hops, too. For the costlier, premium hops of Ballantine's own Golden Harvest linger longer on the vine . . . mellow for two weeks longer than the hops that go into other beers. Two more mellowing weeks in the sun make these vine-ripened hops more tender . . . more mature. Two weeks of extra sunshine make them golden good . . . richer in flavor.

From the gifts of the Golden Harvest . . . a Golden Mellow Flavor

Golden grains and hops — nature's gifts of the Golden Harvest — are destined for one beer and one beer alone . . . Ballantine Beer. The result is a truly unique flavor in beer . . . a Golden Mellow flavor that's crisp . . . clean . . . naturally more refreshing. Next time . . . slip the cap off an ice cold, golden good Ballantine. Enjoy the beer that's Golden Mellow from the Golden Harvest.

DAR Speaker Vetoes Work, Aims of UNICEF; Also Opposes Federal Aid to Education

A combined meeting of the afternoon and evening groups of Wiltwyck Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution occurred in the Chapter House Thursday, Nov. 2. This was preceded by a dinner served by the entertainment committee, Mrs. Harry R. Rigby, Jr., chairman.

Presiding at the business session was the Regent, Mrs. J. Baker Burroughs. Final contributions to the two DAR Schools owned by the National Society were voted to be paid, also to the National Library Fund and State Committee Girl Homemakers.

A highlight of the evening was the presentation to Wiltwyck Chapter by the Mmes. Maynard Mizel, William Ochs and Walter T. Tremper of a beautiful new 50-star Flag of the United States of America, Mrs. Ochs making the announcement.

Honored guest and speaker was Mrs. Donald C. Hotchkin, Binghamton, State Chairman National Defense, whose subject was, "The Major Menace of Our Times."

Among the items touched upon by Mrs. Hotchkin were Federal Aid to Education, "which will mean if passed, increased taxes, Federal control of our schools instead of state and local, as the Government has perfect right to control anything which it subsidizes," she said. "New York State would have to pay at least $53,000,000 more than at present. It has never been proved that our states aren't capable of paying for their own schools," Mrs. Hotchkin said.

Opposes Foreign Aid — "The give-away programs for Foreign Aid go to communist and pro-communist nations. Our wealth is being poured into those countries. We are being taxed and taxed into bankruptcy which is what the communists want."

"The regimented and forced giving of the UNICEF program is a part of the plan for the world welfare state and opposite to America's traditional giving to those in need. The promoters of this program are urged to get the facts and have the courage to act accordingly."

The DAR state leader also said that " . . . UNICEF Christmas cards do away with Christmas as the Christian world knows it, only four of the cards have any symbolism of our Christmas."

"Many Americans naively believe that communism is just another political party. Instead it intends to take control of the entire world. All of eastern Europe, the masses of Asia, parts of South America and Cuba, on our very door-step are in its power. We are being encircled and are expected eventually to fall like an over-ripe fruit into communism's outstretched hand. There are more living under this conspiracy than there are Christians living in the entire world. A war is being constantly carried on for the minds of men," the speaker said.

"There are two major reasons for the optimism of the Communists today: the official recognition given them by America in 1933 and Khrushchev's visit to the United States when he was welcomed and dined in the White House. This latter fact was heralded throughout all the world and was considered a decisive weakening of America."

Against UNESCO

"We need to be jared out of our complacency and not to fall into every trap of appeasement offered us. We must do something and do it today or our freedom is forever lost, our way of life destroyed and ourselves reduced to the level of animals."

"We are being brain-washed to a frightful degree, flooded with Communist literature, American History down-graded in schools, Supreme Court decisions pro-Communist instead of pro-American, and a plan being devised under UNESCO to have all the children of the world study from the same text. Three of the world's leading Atheists are preparing this plan, Bertrand Russell, Aldous Huxley and Ralph Turner. Russia will not use this text. It is teaching patriotism! This newest treaty for international control of our education system under UNESCO will be passed by our Congress if not stopped by the electorate. The Senate Internal Security Sub-Committee, Senator James Eastland, Chairman should be contacted."

"This country was founded upon faith in Almighty God, and we need to rekindle this priceless heritage of religious faith. We need courage and personal dedication to meet the challenge we face," Mrs. Hotchkin concluded.

Good Taste Today

INFLECTING ONE'S GERMS ON OTHERS

Q: Don't you think it the height of ignorance for people who have colds to go and visit others, thereby inflecting their germs on them? In my opinion the place for these people is at home. But do they stay there?—not at all. I have often had neighbors come and visit me with very heavy colds saying they had to get out and get their minds off themselves. These people are so concerned with themselves that they can't see (or don't care) that they are subjecting others to their colds. I do wish you would write something about this in your column.

A: I thoroughly agree with you. It is difficult to understand how anyone can be so thoughtless as to unnecessarily expose others to their cold germs.

Watching Television in Presence of Visitors

Q: When friends come in for a visit and we are watching television, is it not the polite thing to do to turn the set off? This has been a source of great argument in our house for a long time and we would like you to settle it once and for all.

A: Ordinarily you would turn the set off as soon as visitors arrived, unless, of course, they urge you to leave it on. If unexpected visitors arrive while you are watching a program of special interest to you, you might ask your guests if they minded your seeing the finish of that particular program.

Paying Last Respects

Q: When going to a funeral home to pay one's last respects, is it not proper for a woman to wear a hat? A friend of mine insists that a hat is not necessary, but I think it is in very bad taste to go without one.

A: Even though the funeral home is not a church and a hat is not necessary, it is in much better taste to wear one.

Record Lending Service at Library Increasing Daily

In April of 1961, the Musical Society of Kingston initiated the recording lending service at the Kingston City Library. Since that time, the library has been generously supplied with records by individuals and businesses in the community to that today the collection numbers approximately 200 records.

In April, the library circulated 23 records and for the month of October they circulated 112 records. Kingstonians are becoming increasingly aware of the record collection which now includes classical and semi-classical music and poetry readings. The total circulation of records from April through October has been the 510 records.

The service, however, is in need of still more record contribution and monetary donations in order to meet the increasing demands of the public. Anyone interested in donating records and funds is asked to contact Arnold P. Sabie, director, Kingston City Library.

BABSON on BUSINESS

By Roger W. Babson

BABSON BULLISH ON RETAIL TRADE

BABSON PARK, Mass., Nov. 10.—At the present time most Americans seem to believe that there will be a nuclear war and that Russian missiles may fall on some United States city and absolutely destroy it. To the contrary, I am for the first time sure there will be no such war. I suppose one reason why the people are now taking this so seriously is because their brothers and neighbors are being called into the service and are being transported to Berlin. Every magazine has pictures of our soldiers in Berlin. Naturally, those with relatives over there study these pictures. Well, here are two main reasons why we should not now expect such a World War III.

Need of Anti-Missile Missiles
We have already made great progress on "Nike-Zeus" missiles to intercept and destroy airplanes coming toward us. The fastest bombers go only from 1,000 to 2,000 miles an hour, hence it is fairly easy to prepare a missile that will catch and destroy them. Moreover, our country is surrounded by a bank of radar installations. These are supposed to find any Russian planes flying through the radar banks and give our country at least ten minutes notice of what to expect. The principle is that a "Nike-Zeus" would throw a beam into the air and when it intercepts an incoming enemy plane it would explode it. The "Nike-Zeus" would not need to hit the incoming enemy airplane, the explosion would be enough to make it bomb useless. It would all happen within a few minutes.

The above "Nike-Zeus" may be able to protect us from Russia's fastest bombers, but success has not yet been achieved by any nation to intercept and destroy intercontinental ballistic missiles (ICBMs). They go too rapidly. Russia will not fire these ICBM missiles until she has a stock of practical sure-hit anti-missile missiles. Nations may talk about going to the moon or orbiting the earth, but they are working day and night to make an anti-missile missile.

Soviet Tests in Siberia and the Arctic

The purpose of the present testing by Russia is to make an anti-missile missile. It would be impossible to make these tests underground. The big atomic and hydrogen bombs Khrushchev talks about are only a bluff to take our minds off of what he is really doing.

Of course, these anti-missile missiles are very expensive. We are supposed to be carrying on our tests in the Pacific Ocean, under the Nike-Hercules defense system. The best offense and defense which the Russians would now have would be to send up a number of decoys, since we would be unable thus far to tell one from the real missile, which could be launched from Poland.

Russia's Geographical Location

Russia does not want the United States in ruins; she wishes to capture us as a "going concern." This is to get the benefit not only of our factories but also of our climate and geography. Although Russia is double the area of the United States, yet she has much less land suitable for crops. A very large portion of Russia is too cold, too dry, and too salty for agriculture. Almost all of the Soviet Union is farther north than the Canadian-U. S. border. Russia has no "Florida." Even Yalta is as far north as Minnesota. All this means that Russia has shorter growing seasons.

Russia Becoming Capitalistic

Whether the forced organization into big cooperatives has more than offset the lack of incentive of the independent farmer I do not know. When I was in Russia I was told that in addition to being a part of a big cooperative each farmer is given a little patch for a personal garden. This is another reason why I do not now fear that the Russians will drop any nuclear bomb on the United States.

I am an optimist. I even believe that the present war scare will increase consumer buying on the theory: "What's the use of saving money now?" This is a special reason why I believe business will remain good. When retail trade is good, it boosts production and every other phase of business. I explain this in detail in my Outlook for 1962 which will appear in this paper the last of December.

Why We Say--

WAYS OF SUN: Then sun flower or helianthus. (Greek helio for sun) was so named because its petals resemble the rays of the sun. The flower is said always to face the sun, start in the east in the morning and ending in the west at night. Sun flowers came into prominence with the Presidential campaign of Alfred Landon, who hailed from the Sun Flower state, Kansas. . . . The sun flower is not only decorative, it is used as food for cattle.

Middies Rule Big Favorite To Trim Maroon

Sawyers Hoping To Close Season With 8-0 Record

By ED PALLADINO

Area high schools, with the exception of Kingston, Newburgh, Middletown and Port Jervis, will say farewell to the football season Saturday and the spotlight will be at Dietz Stadium and at Beacon.

Potent Middletown High, with a six game winning streak this season and a powerhouse that has scored 199 points and surrendered only 14, will invade Dietz for a meeting with potentially dangerous Kingston High. The Middies are seeking their first unbeaten, untied season since 1917 and are favored by three touchdowns.

At the same time, Saugerties High will be at Beacon in quest of a second straight DCSL title and a perfect season, which would give the Sawyers 15 straight victories. Coach Fred Seither's club is a two touchdown choice but this could be a big stumbling block.

There are other contests on tap, though none as important as the ones mentioned. Poughkeepsie is at Newburgh, Rondout Valley at Cornwall, Ontario at Liberty, Highland at Cardinal Farley Military Academy and Marlboro at Pine Bush.

In Good Shape

Coach Bill Burke has been preparing his Kingston High players for the past ten days in anticipation of the Middletown invasion. He reports the squad in good shape, with the exception of end Paul Natale, who is a doubtful performer. He's still recovering from a broken finger, suffered more than a month ago.

The Maroon team needs an all-out performance if it hopes to topple the invaders. Middletown has been tough to run on this season and even tougher to throw passes against. The local club is geared for this one and to the last reserve, it has confidence of stopping the Middletown streak.

Both clubs have excellent passers and receivers. The Middies feature a combination of Billy Kingberg and Ron Smith. The chief KHS threats are quarterback John Falvey throwing to the fullback Mike Ferraro. Smith is the top Middletown runner, the team's best defensive performer and a solid all-around star. Horace Walker and Bob Kennedy have been doing most of the ball carrying for the home side.

Just a hint to those who anticipate attending the game. It starts at 1:30 and be there early for a choice seat.

Can Better Record

Saugerties, which won seven and tied one last year under Bill Straub, can better that record in Fred Seither's first year as head coach.

The Sawyers have improved each week and in their demolition of Roosevelt last week, they were destructive on offense and powerful on defense, as the 43-0 score will attest.

This will mark the farewell appearance of Al Hrdlicka in a football uniform. He's one of the top backs in the area. The Sawyers would like nothing better than to beat the Bulldogs, the last team to hand them a loss.

Beacon started good but ran into a snag, losing three in a row. However, the Bulldogs have two good runners in Bert Exum and Richie Lundsford and the Sawyers can't afford a letdown. Then, too, a win for Beacon would tie the Southern Dutchess County club with Saugerties for the DCSL crown.

In the other contests on the schedule, Cornwall is favored over Rondout; Liberty rates the nod to beat Ontario; Highland and Cardinal Farley are a pick-em contest; Marlboro should demolish Pine Bush and Newburgh is a slight favorite over an improved Poughkeepsie High eleven.

When the firing stops this weekend, only the Newburgh at Kingston and Port Jervis at Middletown games on Thanksgiving morning will be left.

New Paltz has already finished.

Basketball's Forgotten 1st Just Wants Record Straight

By ART HARRIS
Sports Editor

JACKSONVILLE (Ill.) Journal-Courier

Basketball's second oldest surviving "child," forgotten at recent ceremonies marking the game's birth, has been found.

"Evidently, they must have thought I was dead," Ernest G. Hildner, 88, of Jacksonville, said when he heard of the festive occasion last week in Springfield, Mass.

Hildner, a retired Presbyterian minister, was the youngest member of the YMCA training school class that helped Dr. James Naismith bring his New England cold weather cure-all into the world, using peach baskets as cradles in 1891.

"I'd just like to set the record straight that there are two living members of that class instead of one," Hildner mused in referring to Raymond Kaighn, who had been described as the "only living member."

Kaighn, Hildner agrees, was there that morning when "Jimmie" (Naismith) walked into the gymnasium at the Springfield school for YMCA physical education instructors and secretaries and said: "Let's try this."

"We hoisted the peach baskets to their perches on the indoor track gallery above the basketball floor," Hildner recalled. "Jimmie divided the class, and the game began with brute force."

The 1893 graduate of the school is convinced that no one on the floor that bleak winter day was aware of what soon would develop.

Ritzzy Hanover Action Choice

WESTBURY, N.Y. (AP)—Ritzzy Hanover, winner of seven of her last night races, is the morning line favorite with driver Bob Camper to win the $25,442 Belle Acton Stakes at Roosevelt Raceway tonight. The race is expected to determine the season's championship for 2-year-old pacing fillies.

Juno Hanover, winner of 11 straight earlier in the year, is the second choice. Gloria Knight, Peg Adios, Stand By, Cathy J. Hanover and Stacey Hanover complete the field.

"I'd like to play one more year after this," said the former New York University star who, at 33, is in his 13th season in the NBA. "I feel good," he added, "although I'm not producing as well as I'd like to. But I'll get going and so will the team."

Schayes, who has often been critical of the Warriors' Wilt Chamberlain, said he thought the 7-foot-1 Philadelphia center in 7 or 8 years would surpass him as the all-time leading scorer at the rate he has been going.

Chamberlain, who scored more than 3,000 points last year, is averaging 50 points a game. He racked up 55 points Thursday night as the Warriors ran up the largest score in the club's history.

In the only other NBA action, part of the Syracuse-Philadelphia doubleheader at Convention Hall, Detroit defeated Boston 116-110, handing the Celtics their first loss of the year. Don Ohl led Detroit with 29 points while Bill Russell was high for Boston with 28.

ished its season and took home the UCL championship in the process. The Huguenots tied once and won six to post a third straight unbeaten season. Saugerties can clinch the DCSL title but the DUSO crown won't be decided until after the Thanksgiving Day clashes.

Hoopie Says So Long, Tabs Middies Over KHS

By MAJOR AMOS B. HOOPLE
(Halfback Specialist)

Egad, friends, I don't know where the season has gone. This will be my last column for 1961 and I know I have gained a host of friends after my splendid predictions. Last week the mark was 11-4 and the total to date shows 80 right and only 35 wrong. Pretty good, if I do say so myself. Harumph!

My four star specials for this final week of schoolboy action are for Middletown to beat Kingston, Saugerties to bite the Beacon Bulldogs and Rondout and Ontario to fast defeat.

Just to show you that my thinking is way ahead of everyone else's, I select Kingston and Middletown to win the turkeys on Thanksgiving Day over Newburgh and Port Jervis.

This past season has been wonderful to this learned observer. Between Dr. Inoribit and myself, we have done much research on why a football bounces the way it does. Our conclusion is that the ground is hard, the football is an odd shape because the winds from the Gulf tend to bring that Mexican jumping bean activity to this climate.

Just a reminder. Highland beat Wappingers, 7-6, last week and this observer picked the score right on the schnozola. Also, I picked Ohio State to beat Iowa, another big upset. Ah, such is fame.

Methtinks that after this hectic weekend, I will journey to Jupiter for a few days before returning to watch the Turkey Day games and partake of that wonderful dinner at one of my fan's homes. Harumph.

Now, on with the final forecast.

Every Team Now Defeated in ABL

They've only played 16 games in the fledgling American Basketball League, but there isn't an undefeated team left among the eight apparently well-balanced members.

The Pittsburgh Rens and Hawaii Chiefs were the last to fall, both beaten Thursday night in a doubleheader at Washington. The host Tapers edged the Chiefs 92-91 and the Chicago Majors whipped the Rens 109-97.

In the only other game, the Cleveland Pipers nipped the San Francisco Saints 103-100.

The Tapers defeated the Chiefs when Warren Spaggins sank a field goal with 15 seconds left. Chicago brought its record to 2-3 when Ron Zager broke an 88-88 tie with a field goal and a free throw that shot the Majors into a lead they never lost.

The Pipers won it despite six three-point field goals by the Saints as Cleveland's John Barnhill took high points honors with 28 and teammate Ben Wazley contributed 25.

Bands to Perform At KHS-Middie Tilt Saturday

Members of the Kingston and Middletown High School bands are scheduled to give the spectators at the football game on Saturday a colorful musical before the contest and during halftime.

Prior to the tilt, the Kingston High band, under the direction of Marlin Morrette, will perform a spiral type drill. During the maneuvers and music the majorettes have prepared a new and different baton twirling routine. They will also be featured in a Swiss flag swinging routine to be presented for the first time. Then the color guard, under student leader Joseph Senior, will take its place for the National Anthem.

The Middletown high school band, under the direction of Mr. Burcher, will take the field at halftime to present a special show in the form of a musical quiz.

When the visiting band leaves the field, the KHS dance band, known as the Chordsman, under the direction of student leader Allen Waterous, will present a program including favorites such as Sentimental Journey, When The Saints Go Marching In, Night Train and others.

Shirley Frehn is drum major for the Kingston High band and the assistant major is Arlene Buchbinder. The majorettes are under the leadership of student Elaine Bartroff.

Crack Entertainment Bill Supports Globetrotter Tilt

Harlem Globetrotter impresario Abe Saperstein has once again obtained six outstanding variety acts for his family entertainment show which comes to the municipal auditorium on Friday, Nov. 17, at 8:30 p. m.

Saperstein searched three continents for this year's list of talent. A new and original attraction are Lenny and Marge Ross, a bag punching team that has been featured on Ed Sullivan's television show seven times.

The other crowd-pleasers include Bob Ashely and Darryl Flann, championship table tennis duo that mix comedy with serious play; Ton Wells, celebrated German acrobatic performer; Jackie Coconut, Australian equilibrist formerly seen with the Holiday on Ice show.

Also Nick Kesser, one of the world's finest baton twirlers, and the Parry Kids, Steve and Squeaky, world-traveled trampoline artists.

All this talent will be bunched around Saperstein's top attraction, the Globetrotters who will meet Hawaii's outstanding Honolulu Surf Riders, in the basketball feature that is sure to provide thrills and laughs.

Big Game Hunters May Take Bonus Deer Under New Rule

The taking of antlerless deer is "a sound management practice which must be continued" in order to maintain a healthy deer herd in New York, according to a new information folder just published by the State Conservation Department.

Entitled, "Questions Hunters Ask About Big Game," the leaflet points out that deer seasons and hunting regulations, including the taking of antlerless deer, are designed to keep deer numbers in balance with the carrying capacity of the winter range. Otherwise, when intense cold and heavy snows restrict deer movement, starvation results in overpopulated areas.

This year, under the State's second party-permit system, one deer of either sex may be taken by a specially licensed party of four hunters in six designated areas covering all or part of twenty-seven counties where more harvesting is needed. The bonus deer is in addition to the one-buck-per-hunter allowed under the regular big-game license.

The leaflet points out that past records indicate "deer hunters are actually short-changing themselves" by not taking more whitetails out of the Central Adirondacks and Central Catskills. A comparison of approximate losses from the Adirondack deer population shows that deer taken by hunters runs a poor third to losses from other causes, including starvation and predation, the Department says.

On State Forest Preserve land, the restriction on cutting trees is responsible for "deterioration of the deer range."

"These mature stands, with their heavy foliage, do not permit the growth of the low woody vegetation which deer utilize as food."

Single copies of the folder are available on request to the Division of Conservation Education, State Conservation Department, Albany.

Longhorns To Face Baylor

By JACK CLARY
Associated Press Sports Writer

Texas, the nation's top-ranked college football team, Minnesota, Michigan State and Georgia Tech all are watching their steps this weekend.

These are the top teams who are most in danger of losing lofty standing as the weekend schedule suddenly switches from its fever-pitch of a week ago to something closely resembling sanity.

Even tonight's schedule is interesting, though not power-packed. Texas Christian goes to the West Coast to battle Big Five leader UCLA, while Detroit, minus national offense leader Jerry Gross, plays a good Villanova team and Furman of the Southern Conference hosts East Carolina.

All eyes will be on Texas to see if the Longhorns can stand the gauntlet after being named No. 1 in the latest Associated Press poll. And they'll get a good test from Baylor, whose fine backs still are hobbling a bit from a rash of early-season injuries.

Lead in Offense

The Longhorns, leading the Southwest Conference with a 4-0 mark, and 7-0 overall, are the nation's offense leaders. The Longhorns' defense ranked seventh with an average yield of 168.7, will have to cope with half-back Ronnie Bull of the Bears (3-3).

Minnesota (No. 5), off its thrilling 13-0 upset of then-top-ranked Michigan State last week, now runs into Iowa, which has lost two in a row. The Gophers, tied for the Big Ten lead with third-ranked Ohio State (4-0), will have to cope with Iowa's speed and passing that has averaged 349 yards a game, ranking eighth in total offense. The game will be televised regionally (ABC-TV, 2:15 p. m. Eastern Standard Time.)

Michigan State, ranked sixth after its loss to the Gophers, has another toughie in upset-minded Purdue. The Boilermakers upset Iowa two weeks ago and are 2-1 in the Big Ten. The Spartans, with an offense that has averaged 331 yards a game, are 3-1, and still in the race.

Ohio State has a relatively easy task against Indiana, in another Big Ten game. The Buckeyes (No. 3), led by Bob Ferguson's charging ground attacks, are 5-0-1 overall, with the All-America fullback having gained 636 yards rushing so far.

A Tough Game

Georgia Tech, one of four South-eastern schools in the top ten, has the toughest assignment. The ninth-ranked Engineers meet SEC member Tennessee, with Tech just a step behind the leader with a 3-1 mark.

Alabama, ranked second and leading the conference with 5-0, plays Richmond and is heavily favored while fourth-ranked Louisiana State, which ended Mississippi's dreams a week ago, is expected to have a bit of trouble from North Carolina, co-leader in the Atlantic Coast Conference. Mississippi (No. 7), plays little Chattanooga.

Colorado, ranked eighth and first in the Big Eight, pits its 7-0 record against Utah of the Sky-line, while Missouri (No. 10), also of the Big Eight plays Oklahoma, only 1-5 so far, in a conference game.

Glascos-EK Banquet Is Scheduled Sunday

The annual Glasco-East Kingston Little League banquet will be held Sunday at 3 p. m. at Aiello's Restaurant.

The undefeated Giants will be feted as league champions. Guest speaker will be Charles J. Tiano, Freeman sports editor.

The team event is scheduled at Sangi's Bowlero, with doubles and singles events at Ferraro's Bowlerama. Entry fee is $5.00 per event.

The competition will be in four average classifications in the team divisions of the tournament: Team event, Class A, 746 and up; Class B, 685 to 745; Class C, 626 to 684.

The breakdown in doubles is: Class A, 301 and up; Class B, 270 to 300; Class C, 269 and under. In singles it will be Class A, 151 and up; Class B, 135 to 150; Class C, 134 and under.

Soccer Club Travels To Little Falls Sunday

Kingston Sport Club booters continue their relentless chase for the Central New York Soccer Association title Sunday at Little Falls.

At the moment, Manager Bob Graves' kickers are tied for second place, only a point behind the league Troy Sport Club which has replaced Albany Athletic Club as leader.

The Kingstonians have a six-game winning streak going, but also will be hampered by the absence of three first string players who are on the injured list.

Manager Graves will have to do some shuffling of his lineup to cope with the Indians, who despite their 3-1-5 record figure to be difficult on their home grounds. With four teams bunched in the running for the pennant, a loss would be a serious blow to the locals.

Protest Rejected

The Kingston record remained intact following the protest meeting last week at Poughkeepsie, where the Knights of Columbus team had protested alleged rough play between the teams in their last meeting.

The Kingston-Poughkeepsie game produced some flareups, it was reported, but the protest never got off the ground because the referee did not report the incidents to the league headquarters. He said the game was over when the two players involved started to fight.

Another interesting item discussed at the meeting was a suggestion by Kingston president, Kurt Schoch, to start the activities of the CNYSSA in the spring instead of the fall.

Schoch questioned the advisability of interrupting the scheduled for the winter and then resuming the following spring. He said that from a public relations standpoint the league suffers, as many clubs lose players in the off season and spectators and fans forget over the winter months how their teams are standing and lose interest in the league. The league decided to make a further study of the proposal.

The remainder of the schedule this weekend follows: Albany Athletic Club at Albany Sport Club; Schenectady F. C. at Utica; Poughkeepsie K.O.C. at Troy Sports Club and Poughkeepsie B and W at Poughkeepsie Italians.

Jofre Defends Title In February Contest

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A world bantamweight championship boxing match is planned for San Francisco next Feb. 22 with Eder Jofre of Brazil defending against one of three challengers.

George Parnassus of Los Angeles and Lou Thomas of San Francisco announced plans for the fight Thursday.

Parnassus said Jofre's manager, Abraham Ketznelson, had agreed to a title bout. The foe would be Herman Marquez of Stockton, the California champion, Ignacio Pina or Jose Medel, both of Mexico.

Medel is the No. 2 ranking contender and Pina No. 5.

Layne Is Ready, Will Sit Bench

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Quarterback Bobby Layne of the Pittsburgh Steelers isn't used to warming the bench.

But that's where the National Football League star will find himself—at least at the opening kickoff—when the Steelers meet the Dallas Cowboys at Forbes Field Sunday.

Layne, rarely a second stringer in his 14-year professional career, has been on the 30-day injured reserve list and will be in uniform for the first time in five weeks. In the meantime, his erstwhile substitute—Rudy Bukich—has led the rejuvenated Steelers to three wins in the last four games.

"Layne looks pretty good in practice," Coach Buddy Parker said at the Steelers' training ground Thursday. "But I'm going to start Bukich. He's been playing pretty good. Layne will probably play but it will actually depend on how the game goes."

Montreal Back Atop NHL Heap

The hot hand of Claude Provost has put the Montreal Canadiens back in their accustomed spot—alone atop the National Hockey League standings.

Provost scored the first three-goal hat trick of his NHL career Thursday night, leading the Canadiens to a 5-2 rout of Toronto, Detroit edged Boston 2-1 in the other game.

The Montreal victory, its first in five games, pulled the Canadiens out of a tie with the New York Rangers.

The three goals by Provost—one in each period—regained for him the league scoring lead. The swift right wing now has 13 goals. His 23 points leads New York's Andy Bathgate by two.

Norm Ullman fired from point-blank range with 54 seconds left to give Detroit a comeback victory over the Bruins. Johnny Bucyk got Boston off to a 1-0 lead in the second period, but Alex Delvecchio matched it less than two minutes later. Gordie Howe assisted on both Detroit goals.

Kansas Back Heads for Title

NEW YORK (AP) — Halfback Bobby Lisa of St. Mary's, (Kan.) most consistent rusher in small college football this season, stands the best chance of any NCAA statistical leader to win a championship.

Lisa, with 1,032 rushing yards in eight games, has a 111-yard lead over John Knight of Valparaiso (Ind.) Each has one game to play. Lisa's total yardage is the smallest for any 8-game leader since 1956, but his lead at this stage is the largest in five years.

His strongest threat appears to come from last year's rushing champion, Joe Iacone of West Chester, (Pa.) State, who jumped into sixth place this week with

BETWEEN YOU 'N' ME

Did Notre Dame come back to winning football this year because Joe Kuharich scrapped his professional offense and returned to college ways, as alleged? "The most ridiculous thing I've heard," snorted Joe. "I can show you movies of our Redskins games of five years ago. We ran exactly the same plays that we ran against Oklahoma this year . . . with the same play numbers, the same numerology, the same patterns and the same formations."

Don't the Irish favor the pass less than the pros? "Only," said Joe, "because we don't have the passing threat. You don't throw if you don't have the passer . . . our starting halfbacks are too small to be real receiving threats."

Big buzz on the Detroit campus is that the scouts of the Houston Colts are hot after Dave Debusschere, the Titans' 6-5 All-America eager . . . as a hard-throwing pitcher, with the price in the neighborhood of $60,000 . . . and some fringe benefits, like a couple of oil wells, thrown in . . .

Larry Grantham, who performed for another band of Titans (in New York), until the Army called up the All-American Football League linebucker, went to Mississippi on a baseball scholarship. . . . He played third base until a football injury ruined his throwing arm, and the kid who replaced him got the biggest bonus in Yankee history, more than 200 grand—guy named Jake Gibbs, who played a bit of football, too, as 1960's All-America quarter-back. . . . There's another Grantham at Ole Miss on a baseball scholarship. Carey, a pitcher.

One of the southern schools has a brilliant halfback who's finally realizing on his great potential because he flicked an emotional problem . . . he insisted on having a teddy bear, no kidding. . . .

Clint Murchison Jr. doesn't hedge about the capacity of Dallas to support professional football. . . . When we asked the president of the Cowboys if the town could support two teams (the Cowboys and the Texans), he grinned ruefully. "I wish you had asked if it could support one." . . . He also says the Cowboys have changed their thinking of selling the club. "The only way we're gonna do it," he admitted, "is to have a winning team. They're not going to come out to see the stars of the other clubs."

When Tom Harp, Cornell football coach, was a high school headman back in Ohio, he had to double as the tutor of the basketball team . . . but quickly got discouraged when they played rival Wellsville, which featured a high-scoring center named Francis . . . first name was Bevo. . . .

Biggest feud going in college coaching is Frank Howard (Clemson) vs. Tom Nugent (Maryland). . . . After Maryland beat Clemson for the third straight year, Howard asked permission to address the Terrapin squad. . . . He complimented them on beating his team with good, hard football in contrast to "the high school tricks you used those other times." . . . Then he turned to Nugent and asked, "Why do you still coach that chicken football?" . . . "When you play against a chicken coach," retorted Nugent, "you play chicken football."

Darrell Royal describing his All-America halfback candidate, Jimmy Saxton, in the open field: "Watching him run is like blowing up a balloon and letting it go." . . . When Saxton was recruited he weighed only 145 pounds, but he told the Texas emissary to list him as 165 so the Longhorns wouldn't shy away.

Between you 'n' me, Notre Dame's 235-pound sophomore full-back, Jim Snowden, has a knee so bad that it had to be drained twice this week before the Northwestern game. . . . Coach Kuharich figures it might pop any time and he considers a postseason operation inevitable.

820 yards and has two games to play.

Other leaders in the small college football race are Tom Gryzinski, Defiance, Ohio, quarterback, in total offense, 1,454 yards, and passing, 103 completions; Marty Baumhower, Defiance, pass receiving, 49 for 616 yards; John Nachtsheim, Minnesota-Duluth, scoring, 112 points; and Grover Perkins, Southern University, punting, 48.4 yards average.

Fairfield's 66 Low at Beaumont

BEAUMONT, Tex. (AP) — The story of the opening round of the $20,000 Beaumont Invitational Golf Tournament was one of missed putts.

That is, for everyone except youthful Don Fairfield of Casey, Ill.

While Fairfield and his five-under par 66 Thursday represented a two-stroke advantage in a closely-bunched field, his closest pursuers complained of short putts that might have been.

Jay Hebert of Miami, Fla., for instance, was four inches short on a three-footer on No. 9, giving him a bogey. But the grizzled veteran from Louisiana will never forget No. 1, a par 4 hole with a minimum of troublesome hazards.

Hebert rifled a six-iron 15 feet from the pin to begin his bid. His first putt eased downhill six feet beyond the flag. His second putt was 14 inches short and he missed a third stroke by a half-inch. Finally holing out on his fourth effort.

Hebert scorched the back side with a four-under 31 to get his 68, leaving him tied with Bob Rosburg of Portland, Ore., and unknown Gene Coghill of Penfield, N.Y. They are Fairfield's main worries at the one-quarter mark.

Michie Stadium To Be Enlarged To 32,000 Seats

WEST POINT, N.Y. (AP) — Michie Stadium, where Army plays its home football games, will be enlarged to seat 32,000 next year. It currently seats 27,500.

The announcement was made by Col. Emory (Hank) Adams, Jr., athletic director at West Point, who said construction would begin next week. The Cadets play William and Mary Saturday in their final home game of the year.

The rebuilding project, to cost $1.3 million, is planned as the first step toward the construction of a new Michie Stadium which eventually will seat 50,000.

Col. Adams also disclosed that the Cadets plan a much more competitive football schedule in the future in contrast to this year's somewhat diluted slate. "Our future schedules will include the top teams from each section of the country," he said.

State Adds Two Public Sites for Launching Boats

Conservation Commissioner Harold G. Wilm today announced the completion of two new public boat-launching sites and the enlargement of two others as part of the Department's stepped-up program to meet the increasing demand for pleasure-boating facilities.

This brings to 64 the number of boat-launching sites now operated by the Conservation Department, he said.

The recently-completed sites are: —at Dunkirk on Lake Erie (Chautauqua County), with concrete launching ramp on the beach and parking space for 50 cars and trailers;

—at Prendergast Point on the west shore of Chautauqua Lake in the village of Chautauqua (Chautauqua County); enlarged to provide parking space for 40 cars and trailers, and 200 feet of docking space; soil cement ramp;

—at Lake Placid village on Lake Placid (Essex County) with soil cement launching ramp, parking space for 15 cars and trailers, and limited docking space;

—at Canandaigua on Canandaigua Lake (Ontario County), remodeled and enlarged to accommodate 90 cars and trailers; soil cement launching ramp and 250 feet of docking space.

Weather permitting, four additional boat-launching sites will be completed and ready for use by April 1. They are to be located on the Barge Canal at North Tonawanda (Erie County); on Canadawaga Lake, four miles south of Richfield Springs (Otsego County); on Lake Champlain at Port Henry (Essex County) and on the Sacandaga Reservoir at Northville (Fulton County).

The one low-price compact that's every bit as lively as it looks—Valiant '62!

You're looking at the sports-loving compact car given an award of merit by the Society of Illustrators for design excellence! Come see it!

Unlike some compacts, Valiant will take off like a scared kitten at the drop of a "Scat!" You'd have to pay extra for an optional engine in most any other compact at Valiant's price to match Valiant's standard 101-hp Economy Six.

A modified version of this engine shot Valiant to victory over all American compacts competing in the 1960 and '61 Daytona Beach compact car competitions! Yet, for all its go, Valiant puts plenty of care-free miles between gas pumps. A Valiant scored 26.13 mpg in the last Mobilgas Economy Run!

And this new Valiant has the distinctive good looks to match its gumption. America's most famous artists recently honored the 1962 Valiant. For the first time in seven years, the Awards Committee of the Society of Illustrators has bestowed its coveted citation on a car—Valiant!

That's even more proof that the 1962 Valiant is indeed the Style Leader of the Compacts!

For looks and liveliness, you just can't match Valiant at Valiant's low initial price! And this year's Valiant offers a bundle of economy extras. Like half-as-often oil changes and almost-never 32,000-mile lubrication on major chassis points. See your Plymouth-Valiant dealer. Drive the low-price compact that's quality-engineered by Chrysler Corporation. Find out why . . .

Cites Great Need Today for More Honest Leaders

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP)—It is today's young people themselves who must "throw the lie in Khrushchev's face that communism is the wave of the future and that our children will live under it," Gov. John Volpe of Massachusetts says.

"We expect you to help revive the moral and spiritual values in the character of our people, those values that made America such a great nation," Volpe told the sixth national convention of the National Council of Catholic Youth in his keynote address Thursday night.

Young people must "fight against the laziness, the poor job performances, the sloth of our times," Volpe said.

Deplores Attitude

There is a great need today for "a more honest, a more efficient government," the governor asserted.

He deplored many competent persons' decisions to stay out of politics because they think it is a "dirty business."

If it is, he told the convention, "the reason for it is that decent, responsible people fail to stand up and perform their civic duty. They close their eyes and let inferior men get into office. They close their eyes when corruption sometimes follows."

Hollywood News and Views

By BOB THOMAS

AP Movie-TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Comedy

was mixed with tragedy in this week's big story — the fire that raced through the heart of the movie colony.

The flames destroyed homes of film figures Burt Lancaster, E.

Brown, Zsa Zsa Gabor, Cliff

Robertson, Laverne Andrews,

Walter Wanger.

Moments of Humor

For scores of others, the fire brought hours of frantic effort and concern for their homes. As in all such tense situations, there were moments of humor.

What do people snatch up when they are faced with total loss?

The Van Hefflins took a load of paintings to her mother's house,

then returned to operate a kind of Noah's Ark for burned-out neighbors. Their car was filled with 25 horses, an assortment of cats and dogs and other pets.

Mrs. Richard Boone left her

Mandeville Canyon home hurriedly, took along only her furs and jewels, a suit for her husband and one for their son.

Marlon Brando loaded a car of belongings, but an aide didn't want to specify what they were

— "he's been robbed so many times." The aide did mention

"pictures of his children. The Brando Oscar remained in the safekeeping of the actor's father,

James Garner rushed home to get a metal box containing insurance policies and other valuables, sent his wife off with it, her wedding ring and his billfold. He spent the night watering down the roofs of his and his neighbor's houses.

Didn't Get Stamps

Colleen Gray had a chance to take two carloads of belonging out before flames closed in on her house. What did she choose?

"Small things of monetary value and big things of sentimental value." Among them: Her daughter's guitar and record player, house papers and insurance, baby

pictures, expensive books, layers of clothing between paintings

done by the family, heirloom silverware.

"I kept thinking I should go back and get my books of trading stamps, but I never did," she said. The house was saved by borate bombers.

Maureen O'Hara had only minutes to leave her house, but she remembered, "Make haste slowly."

"So I sat down and thought,

"How do I make my living?" she recalls. "I sent my daughter

Bromwyn for a box and filled it with legal papers and my precious collection of 16th Century

Irish music."

Loaf of Bread, Too

Then she laid a sheet on the floor and loaded it with her furs

(four mink stoles, three mink coats, others), expensive dresses, pairs of black, white and brown shoes, two pairs of evening shoes.

Experts Launch Grim Task of Identifying 77

RICHMOND, Va. (AP)—The Army assembled teams of experts today to begin the grim and difficult task of identifying the bodies of the 77 victims of the flaming crash of an airliner carrying recruits to camp for training.

The bodies of the 74 recruits and 3 of the plane's crew are being moved today from a temporary morgue here to the fieldhouse at Ft. Lee. There men of the Army's recovery and disposition units will seek to make identifications.

The Army said all available resources will be used in an effort to speed the process. Families of the victims will be notified officially as the work progresses.

The Army said Thursday that no positive identification had been made yet. But a spokesman said there were clues such as personal effects and teeth.

The Civil Aeronautics Board has flown personnel to Richmond to investigate the circumstances of the crash of the Imperial Airlines Constellation near here on Wednesday night.

The four-engine craft crashed into a wooded swamp near Richmond's Byrd Airport a few hours after the 74 men soldiers parted from their families for training at Ft. Jackson, S.C. Only two crew members escaped from the twisted, burning wreckage.

The pilot, with one engine of his plane dead, was making a desperate attempt to land at the airport when he radioed: "I can't get my (landing) gear down and I'm losing another engine."

Seconds later, the ship skimmed over the runways, tried to gain altitude, then sank out of sight behind the trees. Its broad wings cut a path through the marshy woods near the airport, and the ship burst into flames. All but two aboard were entombed.

The ship, a nonscheduled airliner, had picked up its passengers in Newark, N.J.; Wilkes-Barre, Pa., and Baltimore.

The two survivors, pilot Ronald Conway, 29, of West Hollywood, Fla., and the flight engineer, William Poythress, 31, of Miami, managed to escape the burning plane with only minor injuries.

Seize 285 Stills
ATLANTA, Ga. (AP)—Georgia revenue agents during October arrested 416 persons and seized 285 stills, one mule, one wheelbarrow, a wagon—and a gas pump.

In reporting the unusual haul Thursday Revenue Commissioner Dixon Oxford said: "I don't know why they picked up that gas pump. Moonshiners must have been using it around some still."

Some 'Hot Spots' Still Give Coast Firemen Trouble

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A hundred men, hollow-eyed and footsore, patrolled still-smoking canyons today, the final stage of a five-day fire disaster in the Santa Monica Mountains.

They kept dousing flareups throughout the night, hoping to avoid a renewal of Southern California's worst fire outbreak.

They finally controlled the 8,400-acre blaze in Topanga Canyon Thursday night but were still plagued by "hot spots"—sparks flying out of smoldering stumps and flaring into flames. The 5,450-acre fire in nearby Bel-Air was controlled Wednesday night.

Official estimates of damage remained unchanged: 456 homes destroyed; property losses that may exceed $20 million; 14,150 acres of vital watershed ruined.

There have been no deaths reported. About 150 firemen have been injured, none seriously. Los Angeles County has been declared a disaster area by Gov. Edmund G. Brown, who is seeking federal aid.
